SUPREME COURT HOLDS CITY MILK ORDINANCE VOID

Pasteurization Requirement Contrary to Law and Unconstitutional, Says Judge J. T. White.

WRIT ORDERS 25 DAIRIES LICENSED

St. Louis Cannot Prevent Sale of Raw Product Which Is Good, but May Fix Proper Standards.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 9.—An ordinance of the City of St. Louis requiring pasteurization of all milk sold in the city, except the grade known as certified milk, today was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court en banc, on the ground that it conflicts with a general State law authorizing the sale of raw milk. The decision nullified the ordinance, which had been passed by the city council last year, and required dairies to sell raw milk, which was declared a "lawful product" under the State law. The opinion stated that a municipality, even under its police power, cannot lawfully forbid what the Legislature has expressly authorized.

While the opinion knocked out the pasteurization ordinance, the court held that the city may regulate standards of quality in the milk sold, and provide for inspection and standardization of milk "so as to reasonably insure the production and distribution of wholesome raw milk, free from dangerous bacteria." If the regulations did not conflict with the general law, the court held, they would be valid.

Permits Denied, Must Be Issued. The decision involved a petition for writ of mandamus to compel the St. Louis Board of Public Service to issue permits to sell milk. Permits had been refused because the dairies did not pasteurize the milk, the court said.

The court issued a peremptory writ, stating the dairymen had a right to deal in raw milk, and a denial of that right was "supported by neither law nor reason."

The case has been pending in the Supreme Court since April, 1923. Former Supreme Judge Conway, as special commissioner, conducted about 40 hearings in St. Louis and the case was submitted to court en banc in October, 1924. It originally was assigned to the late Judge A. M. Woodson for writing of an opinion. After his death last November, the case was reassigned to Judge J. T. White, who wrote the opinion handed down today.

Judge White stated the Legislature had seen fit by general statute to classify and determine the quality of milk in different forms. Section 11,835 of the State law, he held, Section 6546 only authorized cities and towns to provide regulations, licensing and inspection in conformity to the general law.

Law Defines Raw Milk. Section 11,835 - of the State law defines raw milk as "the fresh, unaltered secretion obtained from the complete milking of one or more healthy cows, properly fed and kept, excluding that obtained within 45 days before and 10 days after calving, and contains not less than 84 per cent of solids not fat and not less than 34 per cent of milk fat." It also defines other grades of milk, including pasteurized milk, and milk products that may be sold in the State.

Referring to evidence concerning the relative quality of raw and pasteurized milk, Judge White declared the testimony of the greater number of physicians and bacteriologists conclusively showed that pasteurization altered the character of the milk, impaired its quality and destroyed some of the vitamins.

"From the great weight of the evidence it is plain that raw milk is a general thing is more nutritious, easier assimilated and better kept, especially for children, than pasteurized milk," Judge White wrote, "though it is probable some individuals may thrive better on pasteurized and boiled milk than on raw milk."

All judges concurred, except Mr. Land, who concurred in results. The Associated Press.

BRENNAN SAYS HE HAS REAL ISSUE IN WET PLATFORM

Chicago Democratic "Boss" Declares Prohibition Is in Politics and Will Remain Big Factor.

PREDICTS ELECTION AS U. S. SENATOR

He Declares Illinois Primary May Not Show Much but November Election Will Surprise Drys.

Special to the Post-Dispatch, Copyright, 1926.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—George E. Brennan, the Democratic "boss" of Chicago, who has had a hand in the making and breaking of many political candidates, from presidential to alderman, and who is himself a candidate for the Senate this year, gave Democratic leaders in Congress something of a shock today. He told them he was going to be elected to the Senate in November on a wet platform. And he was sincere.

When some of them expressed a polite doubt and pointed to the 700,000 Republican majority rolled up by Coolidge in Illinois two years ago, the Warwick of Illinois Democracy merely grinned and said: "I think my worst enemies will concede that I know a little something of politics. This isn't a presidential year. You wait and see. And don't be misled by these negative figures in next Tuesday's primaries. November, not April, is the test."

Brennan also told Democratic leaders at the capitol that the issue of prohibition was in politics, and that they might as well prepare to meet it in 1928.

"Issues Can't Be Killed." "I don't see how it can be kept out of politics," he said in an interview. "Anything that affects the thoughts and the daily lives of millions of people, anything that is creating the disrespect for law that this law is, anything that is breeding the army of criminals that this law is, anything that is the major topic of conversation wherever and whenever people gather, irrespective of their social status, is bound to be in politics. There's no use shutting our eyes to facts."

"That was an astounding set of figures we submitted to the Senate Committee," he said in an interview. "Anything that affects the thoughts and the daily lives of millions of people, anything that is creating the disrespect for law that this law is, anything that is breeding the army of criminals that this law is, anything that is the major topic of conversation wherever and whenever people gather, irrespective of their social status, is bound to be in politics. There's no use shutting our eyes to facts."

"What is true of Chicago is true of other cities, in larger or less degree."

"But even that is not the worst of present-day conditions. The tragic part of it is what prohibition is doing to the young folks of the country. It is a little thing to say that youth is being debauched, and yet there is scarcely any other way to describe present conditions."

"Predicts Surprise at Fols." "I am going to the people of Illinois on this issue. It's my biggest issue, and it's the country's biggest issue, whenever we will admit it."

"Let the Republicans fight over the World Court if they want to. They can talk World Court to the people. I am going to talk of present-day conditions, and the remedy for them as I see it. That's my platform in a nutshell. And I think the results in November are going to surprise a lot of people, including some in Washington."

"The dries have been hollering about how they don't believe newspaper polls, and are demanding a real poll with candidates squarely facing the issue. Well, we are going to have it in Illinois."

"The issue became more clean-cut in Illinois even while Brennan was in Washington as the Anti-Saloon League endorsed both Republican candidates for the Illinois Senatorial nomination, Senator William S. McKinley and Col. Frank L. Smith."

Brennan also told Democratic leaders at the capitol that the issue of prohibition was in politics, and that they might as well prepare to meet it in 1928.

Says Sailors Drink More Than Ever

plains while a poor man, if he goes out and gets a drink is arrested and fined."

"The sale of wholesome beer, he added, would stop the manufacture of 'moonshine and raisin jack' in homes and do away with the 'sour soup' which is poisoning the stomachs of the people."

A. F. of L. Policy for Beer.

Preceding McSorley's statement, William Roberts, representing President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, told the committee that the federation had repeatedly gone on record in its national conventions for light wines and beers, and that this action had brought a protest from not more than half a dozen individuals among the 4,000,000 members of the organization.

Roberts said that he spoke for 25,000 local unions, not one of which had expressed disapproval of the beer and wine position of the national organization. The membership of the federation, he told, represented a total of 25,000,000 persons. At every recent national convention of the federation, the witness said, delegates had stated that unrest among the wage earners was increasing because of the Volstead act. On a tour of 30,000 miles in 1923-24 with the late president of the federation, Samuel Gompers, he said that he found the act being criticized everywhere.

"And everywhere," he added, "there was plenty of distilled liquor to be had but seldom any real beer."

Homes Turned Into Breweries.

"We found that the homes of the people had been turned into breweries and distilleries which turned out dangerous concoctions that if drunk to any extent would ruin the health."

"Give the people a chance to vote on the issue and there is no doubt of the result. The wage earner, as well as the people generally, can't understand how a man can be 'personally wet' and 'politically dry.'"

Roberts said that investigations by the Federation had shown the following results of prohibition as now administered: General disregard of the law by all classes, including those who made the law; the creation of thousands of moonshiners and an army of bootleggers; an amazing increase in the traffic in poisonous and deadly concoctions and drugs; an increased rate of insanity, blindness and crime among the users of these concoctions and drugs; and an increase in taxes amounting to $1,000,000 a year.

"We are drifting nearer and nearer to being a whiskey-drinking nation," he said.

A picturesque and effective witness was the old tar, Andrew J. Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's Union, whose name is linked with the passage of the La Follette seamen's act and with other efforts to improve the seaman's fruitless field on which to experiment.

Dry Reform Backfired.

He told how the seaman's strong grog had been taken away from him on the theory that if he couldn't get his grog at sea he would lose his taste for it, but how the "reform" had worked out just the other way. He said he was opposed to the saloon now, and had always been opposed to it. The saloon, he added, was not a good thing for a calling which drew some of its members from "the scrapings of hell, bedlam and Nevada."

He thought at first that the Volstead act was a salutary law, but two years after it came into effect he changed his mind completely. He found then that conditions were worse than they had ever been before prohibition.

"As long as prohibition could be enforced and men couldn't get liquor, everything looked well," he said, "but the moment they could get it they got it. My personal conviction is that if men were permitted to go into a restaurant and get a glass of beer or claret with their lunch they wouldn't bother about anything else."

"I don't see any sense in the present regulations," continued the veteran. "After I was 60 years old I began to take a little claret each day on the doctor's orders, and I did this till the Volstead act took it away from me."

"Since then—and I feel that I have got to be honest with you gentlemen and tell you the whole story—I have been accustomed to take a table spoonful of whiskey in a glass of water with my dinner, and it has done me good. The doctor says it has done me good."

"And it now costs you about $5 a quart," put in Senator Reed. "Yes," said the witness, "and some of it is so bad that I have to pour it into the swirl. There is no difficulty in getting it, the only difficulty is to get something that I dare to drink."

Doesn't Want Saloon Back. James O'Connell, president of the Metal Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, a white-haired, serious-looking man, who had been a saloon keeper, said that he resented insinuations that organized labor was trying to bring back the saloon. O'Connell said that his travels all over the country had shown him that the "law is being flagrantly and openly violated on every hand."

He went on to describe with a wealth of vivid detail, a bar in New York, with all the old-time appointments of third rail, shining glasses and a white-coated bartender mixing drinks.

Senator Reed, in a low tone, to Senator Edwards said something which sounded like, "That's a comfortable way of life."

O'Connell said it was utterly futile to try to control the eating or drinking habits of the people by statute, and by way of comparison he added that you could no more regulate the smoking of cigarettes by females than you could fly.

"There are some things that are impossible," he added, referring again to the attempted enforcement of the Volstead act—and you are up against the impossible now. It will take some statesmanship to bring us out of the chaos into which we are drifting."

Couldn't Put Law Over Again. "We've tried it and it has been possible to put this law over on the American people with so little trouble. It couldn't be done again."

This law can't be enforced," O'Connell declared. "I don't care how much money you spend or how many laws you pass."

John P. Frey, president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor, reminded the committee that the same law was the basis of the Antisaloon League has its headquarters.

"There is a condition there that induces wage earners," he said. "Men who work at laborious tasks find they cannot quench their thirst with water without getting sick. They were accustomed to a glass of beer after such work, but now they drink wine, brandy, etc. They are not very good brewers."

"Slowly, gradually there has been growing a disrespect for law extending over the State."

Frey told of corruption in dry law enforcement in Ohio, calling attention to the conviction of J. E. Russell, former State Prohibition Commissioner, on a charge of conspiracy.

He cited the conviction of 21 men in Cincinnati and the conviction of 39 Ohio policemen working with dry agents.

"Don't you think those convictions will have a wholesome effect?" asked Senator Walsh. "I think not."

"Was there any split of money in these cases you tell about?" asked Reed. "All the way from the Prohibition Commissioner to the Constable," Frey said.

Causes Disregard of Law. "I should think these convictions would indicate a desire to enforce the law in your State," said Walsh. "No, they have brought a disregard for the law by the people generally," Frey insisted.

Saying women have been used as "bait" in Ohio, Frey said, those were some of the methods "which have brought the Anti-Saloon League and the Volstead act into disrepute."

moral repulse?" asked Reed. "I have no acquaintance with them," said Frey, and Senator Harrell put in that he didn't think "we need any evidence on that."

"Oh, they might have been sanctified by contact with a prohibition agent," retorted Reed.

Frey continued that the trades unions in Ohio "want the law modified and the home brew and still removed from their homes."

"You were opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment?" asked Senator Walsh. "Yes."

"Your State Legislature ratified the Eighteenth Amendment?" "Yes, by a large vote."

Voted Against Prohibition. "Before that you had had a vote on the question asked Senator Reed. 'Afterwards there was a vote and the State voted against prohibition,' Frey replied. 'Both the Republican and Democratic parties in Ohio have dry plank, but they do not mean anything.'"

"You even have committed the error of the past," he said, "and have elected in Ohio since the Legislature ratified the Eighteenth Amendment, and added: 'The dryest Governor we have had in 12 years was elected as a result of a last-minute understanding with the brewers in the State.'"

"We won't inquire his name," said Walsh.

"It would not be difficult to surmise," Frey returned.

"When you say one state do you refer to Senator McKinley and Illinois?" Reed was asked. Reed made two speeches against the Illinois Senator last month because of McKinley's vote for the World Court.

"I don't want to say anything about Senator McKinley and Illinois," he said. "The Missouri Senator replied. 'My resolution is to investigate all senatorial primaries and elections.'"

The resolution would condemn broad powers on the investigation body. It would authorize the committee immediately to investigate and report to the Senate what money, emoluments, rewards or things of value, including agreements or understandings of support for appointments or election, the candidates or their friends had used in the campaigns. The committee would also report the names of persons, firms, corporations, committees, organizations or associations who had made promises, subscriptions, advances or payments during the contests.

Inquiry During Campaign. Senator Reed denied that he had the Anti-Saloon League or the World Court and the League of Nations in mind, although he admitted that their activities, including their contributions, would be a subject of investigation.

"My sole idea was to have the committee gather the facts about the campaigns, so that when the elected Senator comes forth with his certificate we shall be able to judge whether he has obtained it without the expenditure of vast sums," Reed said.

"Under my resolution the committee would be empowered to sit at any time or place to take testimony. That means, of course, that they could sit before a primary, after the primary, but before the election and they certainly should sit after the election."

Reed explained that the committee would be empowered to sit at any time or place to take testimony. That means, of course, that they could sit before a primary, after the primary, but before the election and they certainly should sit after the election."

REED WANTS CLEAN SENATE CAMPAIGN

Resolution for Expense Inquiry Not Aimed at Any Individual, He Says.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Senator Reed of Missouri said today the resolution he introduced yesterday afternoon providing for a senatorial committee of five members, two to be regular Republicans, one to be a progressive Republican and two to be Democrats, to investigate senatorial campaign expenses, was not directed at any particular candidates in the forthcoming election nor any particular persons or organizations contributing to their campaign funds.

"It was a good-faith resolution designed solely to protect the country against the dumping of enormous funds into a senatorial campaign," Senator Reed explained. "I had no particular persons in mind, but when funds are being spent in primaries, as in one state I mentioned, there should be an investigation to see that we don't have another Newberry case on our hands."

Declines Name Persons. "When you say one state do you refer to Senator McKinley and Illinois?" Reed was asked. Reed made two speeches against the Illinois Senator last month because of McKinley's vote for the World Court.

"I don't want to say anything about Senator McKinley and Illinois," he said. "The Missouri Senator replied. 'My resolution is to investigate all senatorial primaries and elections.'"

Inquiry During Campaign. Senator Reed denied that he had the Anti-Saloon League or the World Court and the League of Nations in mind, although he admitted that their activities, including their contributions, would be a subject of investigation.

"My sole idea was to have the committee gather the facts about the campaigns, so that when the elected Senator comes forth with his certificate we shall be able to judge whether he has obtained it without the expenditure of vast sums," Reed said.

"Under my resolution the committee would be empowered to sit at any time or place to take testimony. That means, of course, that they could sit before a primary, after the primary, but before the election and they certainly should sit after the election."

THREE FIREMEN HURT WHEN TRUCK SKIDS INTO CURB

Chief Alt Orders Investigation of Accident at Cass and Sixteenth Street.

A fire truck, enroute from Engine Co. No. 9, 1545 North Eighth street, to a small roof fire at 1704 O'Fallon street, at 10:45 a. m. today, skidded and crashed into the curb at the southwest corner of Sixteenth street and Cass avenue, critically injuring one fireman and slightly injuring two others.

Truckman William D. Fisher, 35 years old, of 1109 St. Louis avenue, who was riding on the side of the truck in violation of a department order, was hurt to the street, suffering a fractured skull. Pipemen Thomas Donovan and Robert McCormick were cut and bruised.

The accident occurred as the driver, Harry Mayer, of 4052 South Broadway, was attempting to make a left turn from Cass, south into Sixteenth street. Mayer said he was driving about 20 miles an hour at the time.

Chief Alt, who arrived at the scene a few minutes after the accident, is investigating a report made to him by a witness who estimated the speed of the truck to be about 30 miles an hour. Chief Alt also ordered an explanation of why seven men were riding on the truck when standing instructions allow a maximum of five men.

ALDERMEN WON'T WASH A MAYOR'S POLITICAL LINEN

Board, 21 to 4, Rejects Resolution Asking Citizens Not to Sign Miller Recall Petitions.

DECLARE QUESTION IS UP TO PUBLIC

Some Members of Body Base Action on Belief There Is Sentiment Behind the Movement.

Some members of the Board of Aldermen, after voting down yesterday a resolution asking citizens not to sign petitions for the recall of Mayor Miller, which are being circulated, explained to reporters that their action was based on the fact that they believe there is considerable sentiment in the city in favor of the recall. They were not willing to be quoted.

The resolution, 21 to 4, indicated a lack of sympathy for the Mayor among the Aldermen, although the opposition arose partly from the fact that an attack was attempted in it against John J. Hill, chairman of the Miller Recall Committee. It is believed at City Hall, however, that a resolution opposing the recall without other reference to the Miller Recall Committee, if passed, would be defeated. In 1919, when an effort was made to recall Mayor Kiel, all the Aldermen opposed it.

Alderman Wander of the Seventh Ward introduced the resolution yesterday, asserting that "several disgruntled, dissatisfied, would-be Republicans, whose wings have been clipped and who have joined hands with Democrats" are behind the recall. Chairman Hill, who was defeated for the Republican nomination for Alderman from the Eleventh Ward at the last primary, invited Aldermen Wander, Watts and W. F. Niedeck to a meeting shortly before that election, it declared, "for the purpose of explaining that the Tenth Ward Improvement Association, of which Hill is president" was in a position to deliver 40,000 or 50,000 votes to candidates approved by the Association, and he suggested that Watts, Niedeck and Wander donate about $750 to pay the expense, omitting himself from any assessment."

Mayor Miller has handled various Seventh Ward matters through Alderman Wander instead of City Commissioner Hubel, who was not reappointed City Marshal by the Mayor.

Aldermen Wander and Watts told about the candidates' gathering mentioned in the resolution at the board meeting yesterday, and Alderman Wimer said he was there but left when a donation was mentioned.

Alderman Krueger averred he opposed the recall but protested the resolution as "airing grievances." Alderman Ellers, holding the resolution out of order, said there was nothing wrong with asking candidates to contribute in order to get their names on a slate. There is no member of the board who has not made such payments, he added.

Vote on Question.
The people have the right to pass on the recall, Alderman Baur asserted, although he was against it himself. He thought the measure put prospective candidates for office in an embarrassing position. He will seek to be the next Clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction. Alderman Riefling maintained the recall was the people's business, not the board's, and the board had no right to dictate to citizens about signing petitions.

Moving to file the resolution, Alderman Wimer said: "I'm not taking any part for or against the recall. This is no place to wash dirty political linen. Under the Charter We've the authority to remove the Mayor if we wish."

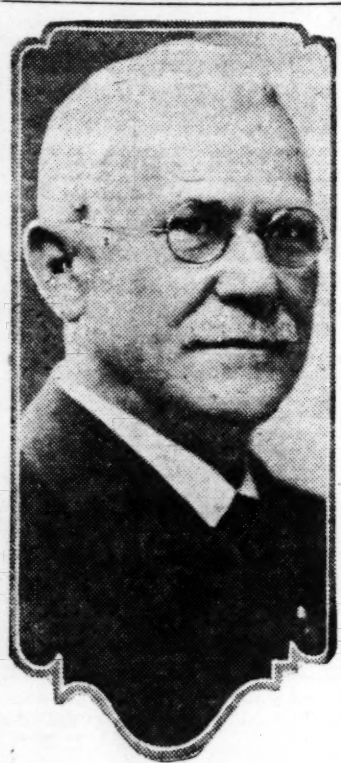

Those voting against the motion to file were Aldermen Wander, Watts, Nangle and Neumann. Alderman Fett was excused from voting because Hill had been his opponent for nomination. Aldermen Neu and Schwartz were absent. President Neu, who would become the executive if Mayor Miller is recalled and who then might seek a full term for himself, explained that his vote against the resolution was because he believed it out of order.

Mayor Miller, in an address, thanked the Aldermen for their "wonderful co-operation," remarking that all the differences they had had were differences of opinion, urged their loyal support, and concluded with "God bless you."

Signatures to petitions now number 8991, the Recall Committee announced today, 1413 having been added in the last 24 hours.

established by an ordinance which Mr. Gundlach originated. He was a leader in the City Plan Association, whose work developed into that of the commission.

In urging his more ambitious and costly plans, Mr. Gundlach was impatient of comparisons with other river cities. "Don't talk about Cincinnati and Louisville," he would say. New York, Washington and the European capitals were his models for the future of St. Louis.

The Union Station plaza plan developed into the central parkway, which was passed by the Municipal Assembly, but which, during the subsequent administration of Mayor Kiel, was submitted to the referendum and voted down. Kiel, who favored the parkway, has pointed out recently that the defeat of the plan was due to the fact that the parkway plan deprived the city of what would have been the practical and logical route for a rapid transit line. The Union Station part of the plan will be realized, however, when ordinances now in force, for the widening of Market street, are carried out.

As to river front improvement, which Mr. Gundlach never ceased to urge, less progress has been made. The City Plan Commission is now preparing a comprehensive plan, but no provision has been made for the cost of the work.

Park System in County.
As a part of his advocacy of river front improvement, Mr. Gundlach, in the last two years, opposed the Plaza Courthouse plan. As a corollary of river front development, he advocated an outer park system in St. Louis County to be acquired before land prices shall become prohibitive.

Last year he made his first journey to Europe, viewing London, Paris and the German cities, with the future of St. Louis always first in his mind.

With Luther Ely Smith and Miss Charlotte Rumbold, Mr. Gundlach sponsored the St. Louis Pageant and Masque of 1914, being chairman of the Executive Committee. For years afterward, he was the mainstay of the Pageant Choral Society, formed from the chorus of the big community drama. He was active in promoting the performance of "As You Like It," which was the first production on the present site of the Municipal Theater. The success of this performance led to the construction of the theater. He was the head of the Centennial Association, which conducted the celebration of the Missouri Statehood Centennial in 1920.

Owned Grant Letters.
His historical interest led him to become a collector of letters and manuscripts, chiefly those relating to American history in critical periods. Lincoln and Grant were his favorite subjects. He possessed five letters from Gen. Grant's personal correspondence. He was especially interested in preservation of the old Dent home, on South Fourth street, where Grant and Julia Dent were married, and he purchased the house and held it for a time to prevent it from being demolished.

He owned a number of letters of Theodore Roosevelt, documents relating to the Louisiana Purchase and documents bearing on the history of the Protestant Reformation.

He was married in 1884 to Miss Emma C. Dreyer. Mrs. Gundlach and two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Leichen and Miss Ruth Gundlach, survive him.

The North St. Louis Business Men's Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce passed resolutions last night on Mr. Gundlach's death.

PROSECUTORS' PAY CLAIMS UPHELD

Supreme Court Decides Claims for Back Salary Under Law Are Invalid.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 9.—Salary disputes arising between prosecuting attorneys and county courts of many counties in the state, since the Supreme Court declared unconstitutional a law passed in 1921 seeking to reduce the salaries of prosecuting attorneys, were settled in an opinion handed down today by Supreme Court en banc, clarifying the legal points involved.

Six mandamus suits brought by present and former prosecuting attorneys against their respective county courts for back salary under the former decision, were settled by the opinion, the court holding they were entitled to the back pay claimed.

Salaries of prosecuting attorneys are fixed on the basis of population of the counties they represent. Formerly the population of a county was determined for salary classifications by multiplying the number of votes cast in the county in the preceding general election by five. After women were permitted to vote in 1920, the Legislature in 1921 sought to hold the salaries down by changing the multiple to three and one-half.

Division No. 1 of Supreme Court last year held the 1921 act unconstitutional on the ground it was so drafted that it did not provide uniformity of counties of the same population classification. This reinstated the former law, fixing the multiple of five, and in many instances doubled the salaries of prosecuting attorneys.

County courts have fought payback of the back salary claims, and attacked constitutionality of the law fixing the multiple of five. That contention was overruled by the court in the decision handed down today, the court holding the law now in effect was valid and provided uniform classifications. Judge Graves, who wrote the opinion, said the remedy for the counties rested with the Legislature, through the reason of the classifications. "However, it should be said that well-paid prosecuting attorneys are an asset to the State and the sundry counties rather than a detriment," Judge Graves wrote.

A good salary not only bespeaks higher-grade officials, but an ultimate saving in expense which must be met by the taxpayers."

Six Cases Affected.
The decision was written in a suit filed by Walter L. Chaney, former Prosecuting Attorney for Johnson County, and the decision controlled in five other cases handed down by the court. Chaney was allowed $750 for back salary claimed for three years and six months, during which he was paid $2500 a year under the law that was held unconstitutional.

Other cases settled by the decision included that of Floyd L. Sperry, former Prosecuting Attorney of Henry County, approximately $9000; Sam James, former Prosecuting Attorney of Pettis County, $5000; Roy Wrucke, Prosecuting Attorney of Pettis County, $5000; and Ruby M. Hulen, former Prosecuting Attorney of Boone County, approximately $9000.

POLICE LAND A ROBBER BY WAVING A FLAG

Officers Wigwag to Man Hiding on Island in River and He Rows Ashore.

Disguised in old clothing, Patrolman Johnson and Meier of the Anselma District yesterday wigwagged a fugitive burglar to leave his hiding place on Mosenthien Island, just east of Chain of Rocks Park, and arrested him when he ran his rowboat up on the shore.

He identified himself as Francis Eaton, 23, of 3445 Lowell street. He admitted, according to Police Captain Edward Doyle, that he and 15-year-old Lawrence Nicholas Jr. of 8017 Newby place had robbed the home of James Martin at 9010 Edna street last Sunday.

Young Nicholas was turned over to Capt. Doyle Monday by his father, after he had told his parents of the burglary. From the boy Capt. Doyle got the name of his associate in the robbery. He detailed Johnson and Meier to find the man.

Johnson put on a navy uniform he had worn during the war and Meier donned old civilian clothes. After looting around the water front for several days they finally learned that Eaton was hiding on Mosenthien Island and would come to the mainland when his friends waved a red flag for him.

Yesterday the two policemen tied a red rag to a stick and waved it until their arms were tired. Finally a man appeared on the bank of the island, waved and shoved off in a rowboat. When he landed near the policemen, he recognized Johnson, whom he knew, and fled, but the officers caught him.

Eaton had made his statement, Capt. Doyle recovered in his home a set of tools stolen from the Martin home. Warrants charging burglary and contributing to the delinquency of a minor will be asked for Eaton today.

Thompson Hearing Postponed.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, April 9.—The hearing for probation of John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor, under Federal prison sentence, was continued to April 26 by United States Judge George Carpenter, in the District Court this morning. Judge Carpenter continued it both because he leaves on a vacation this week-end and his calendar was heavy, and because of Thompson's illness and inability to be present at the hearing. He said that he hoped when the later hearing came up this month the St. Louis man could be present.

WOMAN STRIKER JAILED FOR USING ABUSIVE LANGUAGE

Passaic Textile Worker Given 30 Days for Speech to Officer; Six Children Arrested.

By the Associated Press.
PASSAIC, N. J., April 9.—Nancy Sandowsky, 19-year-old textile worker today was sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of using abusive language to an officer, Judge Davidson, who imposed sentence, said: "I have fined you several times and it does not seem to have done any good."

The girl was arrested in a clash Tuesday when she occupied her accustomed place at a head of the marching strikers. For 11 weeks she has served as an aid to Albert Weisbord, strike organizer, and steadfastly refused to obey police orders that she deems violate her rights.

Six children between the ages of 9 and 16 were among those arrested at Botany Mills today when a line of 600 paraded past the plant.

A dozen or more textile strikers were arrested during the night and early today for stoning police, buses and homes, and indulging in general disorder. Several boys also were taken into custody for similar offenses.

Albert Weisbord last night ordered strikers to follow the mill workers on street cars, buses, and even into their homes if necessary.

MOTORMAN FREED IN STREET CAR SPEEDING CASE

Dismissal on Grounds That William Tullock Did Not Drive at 30 Miles an Hour Past Crossings.

A charge of operating a street car at a speed of 30 miles an hour against William Tullock, 29 years old, a motorman, of 827A Bremen avenue, was dismissed today by Police Judge Beck on the grounds that Tullock had not operated the car across intersecting streets at excessive speed and that traffic was light when the incident occurred.

Tullock was arrested on March 15 by a traffic policeman who said the motorman was speeding on North Broadway, between East Railroad and Calvary avenues. The case was tried about three weeks ago, when defense counsel argued for dismissal because the arresting officer was unable to state positively that Tullock was operating the street car. Tullock's counsel also raised the points on which dismissal of the case resulted.

WHISKY ODOR BETRAYS BURGLAR TO WOMAN

Negro Makes for Window but Is Hauled Back and Captured.

Mrs. Ida Arbeter of 1121 North Fourteenth street felt a cold hand slip under her pillow, brushing her cheek, at 2:30 a. m. today. For a moment she thought it was her husband, Morris Arbeter, horse dealer, preparing to leave for work. Then she caught the odor of whisky. She screamed. Arbeter does not drink.

A dark form sped across the room and toward the kitchen. Mrs. Arbeter's son, Morris Greenburg, an amateur boxer, leaped from his bed and pursued the prowler, grabbing him by the leg just as he was disappearing through an open kitchen window. Greenburg pulled. The thief gripped an outside shutter and held on.

Miss Faye Greenburg, 18, joined her brother at the window and together they tugged at the leg without result. Finally Arbeter, their stepfather, joined them and managed to seize the other leg. The shutter broke from its hinges and fell into the yard. They hauled the prowler, a Negro, thumping into the kitchen.

Greenburg held him while his sister donned a coat and shoes and went to the street calling for help. Patrolman George Lawless of Carr Street District came to the rescue. The Negro said he was Edgar Miller, 24 years old, of 2030 Division street. He was not a burglar, he said. He was at the back door of the Arbeter home looking for whisky, he declared, when somebody pushed him and he found himself inside being beaten by two men.

Pose as Inspectors, Take $8.
Two men, who posed as inspectors in the City Water Department, visited the home of Mrs. Florence Henry, 817 Bremen avenue, yesterday afternoon, and said they had been sent to inspect the plumbing. Mrs. Henry was busy with household duties, while the pair turned on the kitchen faucet two or three times, looked under the sink and departed. Shortly thereafter Mrs. Henry missed a purse and $8 which had been in a kitchen cupboard.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., April 9.—Men today continued their two-day fight against flames that are consuming about 8,500,000 barrels of oil stored by the Union Oil Co. on two tank farms in California. The fire near here apparently has ceased to spread, but it will be three or four days before the 8,000,000 barrels of petroleum in the field are burned out.

At Brea, southeast of Los Angeles and 250 miles from San Luis Obispo, 3000 men are battling the flames to save three huge reservoirs and a number of surface tanks that were threatened. The damage being done by the fires was estimated at $18,000,000, largely covered by insurance.

HAPPINESS AT HOME

Do your children and their friends gather at home of evenings? Wouldn't they perhaps, if you made it more enjoyable for them to do so? A piano or a player, these are the means of making evenings more enjoyable for your children in your home. The instrument should be a Packard Piano, the favorite of musicians for over a half a century.

GERMANY MUST RECAPTURE MARKETS TO PASS TEST YEAR

International C. of C. Anticipates Payment in Goods for Second Dawes Plan Annually.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 9.—As the "test year" of the Dawes plan approaches, Germany is not in a position to meet all future requirements, external as well as internal,
it is reported by the American section of the International Chamber of Commerce.

If Germany is to pay its reparations, the report declared, she must recapture and increase her foreign markets.

"Latest word from Europe indicates that this process is in motion," it was stated, "for it is now anticipated that the Dawes payments for the second annuity year will be made entirely in deliveries in kind."

"The test year, however, will not come until 1928-1929 and there is much authoritative opinion both inside and outside Germany to the effect that the second annuity year represents about the limit of reparation capacity not only because it marks Germany's maximum export surplus but likewise because it is the limit of ally willingness to receive payment in goods
by way of deliveries in kind."

STIX, BAER & FULLER

A Year After the DIAMOND JUBILEE

A YEAR ago we launched the greatest celebration of record in St. Louis Retailing.

Many thousands of St. Louisans felt a personal pride in the achievements of this long-established institution which had served them or their families for nearly four generations.

It would be no more than fitting that such an occasion should be remembered for its success as a merchandising achievement as well as from the viewpoint of sentiment.

There is no doubt that thousands of families realized in a substantial measure benefits from the Diamond Jubilee values offered in commodities for nearly all their personal and household requirements.

A higher standard of value-giving and public usefulness was undoubtedly set up for retailing in general.

No one is more cognizant of these facts nor better able to profit by such an experience than Vandervoort's and the Vandervoort organization.

Profiting by our experiences, we are able, today, to render even greater service to our patrons than ever before.

In celebrating this, our 76th

Anniversary Sale

Which Started This Morning

—all our resources developed in the past were made available and utilized to provide the best values obtainable in broader assortments than ever before.

Our opening announcements in yesterday's papers contained hundreds of value-giving offerings. These are just the beginning. It would require many more pages to tell the entire story.

To the thousands who have looked forward to this great sale we urge a visit to the store tomorrow (Saturday), and we promise hundreds of additional values equal to those already announced. Every man, woman and child will benefit by this, Our 76th Anniversary Sale.

MAGAZINE BARRED FROM MAIL
SOLD OUT, H. L. MENCKEN SAYS

No More to Be Mailed Any Way,
but Editor Will Seek Hearing on Order.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 9.—With the April issue of the American Mercury officially barred from the mails after it had been mailed, Henry L. Mencken, the editor, is seeking a hearing on the action.
Mencken successfully defended charges of selling obscene literature made in Boston against an article entitled "Hatrack" appearing in the issue.

Postal authorities at Washington took action yesterday after the Farmington (Mo.) Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution asking Postmaster-General New to bar the magazine. The town of Farmington is the setting for the article, of which Herbert Asbury,
New York newspaper man, is the author. He was born and reared in Farmington and is a great grandson of the late Bishop Asbury.
His article deals with small town morals.

Distribution of the magazine has been stopped in Ingham County, Mich., by Harry F. Hittle, Proseccuting Attorney at Lansing, on the ground that the "Hatrack" article did "not contain a decent sentence."

Mencken said today that the magazine had been submitted to the postal authorities prior to mailing and that no complaint had been received. There are no more copies to be mailed, Mencken said.

UNION STATION CONCOURSE IS PRIVATE, COURT HOLDS

Judge Calhoun's Injunction Ruling in Taxicab Suit Upholds Rental Privilege of Terminal.

Circuit Judge Calhoun yesterday, in addition to granting an injunction in favor of three taxicab companies against the Terminal Railroad Association also sustained the Terminal's right to rent the concourse at Union Station to the Brown Cab Co. or any other concern doing a similar business. The decision states that the concourse never has been opened to the public by the Terminal and is therefore private. The injunction prevents the Terminal from compelling its ushers at Union Station to take passengers to the Brown cabs or from excluding agents of rival taxicab companies from soliciting business in the station midway so long as it permits the Brown Co. to have representatives there. Judge Calhoun points out that such practice amounts to unfair discrimination.

Last January Circuit Judge Falkenhainer, in a similar suit filed by the Canary Taxicab Co., held that the concourse was open to the public and that the Terminal had no right to make an exclusive contract with the Brown Co. The Terminal has appealed to the Supreme Court from this decision. The Brown Co. pays $300 a month for the concourse privilege.

'PUSSYFOOT' SAYS
HE LIED AND DRANK
FOR DRY CAUSE

William E. Johnson, in Magazine Article, However, Denies Charge That He Took Human Life.

GOT RESULTS, SO
"ETHICS BE HANGED"

This Is Comment on Ruse
by Which He Says He Showed Up West Virginia Editors.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 9.—William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson tells the story of his part in the campaign which led to the passage of prohibition in a copyrighted article in the May issue of Hearst's International Cosmopolitan Magazine. Johnson
in his article says:

"I have told enough lies 'for the cause' to make Ananias ashamed of himself."

That on one occasion he bribed
Russian officials to give him secret information that would aid his work.

That he has drunk "gallons of it" in his campaigns against liquor.

He denied stories that he had taken human life in his campaigning and told the source of those stories.

"I like the taste of liquor," Johnson wrote, "but I have never drunk it except for the reasons (gathering evidence in criminal cases) indicated above. I have not had a drink in a dozen years. And yet
I would like a drink right now if I thought it would advance the prohibition cause." Johnson specifies that he is "not engaged in the task of defending either my own conduct or that of the Anti-Saloon League."

"Only Setting Down Facts.
"In the abstract," he says, "much could not with ease be justified ethically. I am only setting down facts."

He then asks himself questions
as to whether he ever killed, lied, bribed or drank in the furtherance of the prohibition cause and answers the question as stated above.

"One of the most difficult lessons for the dry to learn," Johnson writes, discussing the political phases of prohibition, "was that a man's personal habits as to drink
did not necessarily affect his availability as a candidate for public office. Many of our most loyal supporters, in and out of public office, were men who occasionally took a drink and some of them took it more than occasionally."

He characterized the West Virginia State fight of 1912 as the turning point of the prohibition struggle.

He charged that the wets had arranged to pay newspapers in West Virginia large amounts to publish their propaganda as editorial or reading matter. Johnson went to Washington, used an address of a relative and wrote letters to the newspapers on stationery, marked "Literary Agent," asking their rates on "pure news matter" and for "editorials" against prohibition
"to be written by myself."

"Snapped at Bait."

"A large part of the newspapers snapped at the bait, swallowing it hook, line and sinker," he charged.
"A vast amount of incriminating correspondence was soon in hand.
This I published widely throughout the State."

He said the "effect was tremendous."

"I was savagely denounced by the victims and even sharply upbraided by some good friends, who called it 'forgery' and other disagreeable names. But ethics be-hanged. I more than accomplished what I was driving at."

The dyes carried the State by "some $9,000," he added. "The tide has turned."

In the 1914 campaign in the West, when Johnson was in charge of the publicity campaign for the dyes in Arizona, California, Idaho, Colorado, Oregon and Washington,
he said he had a man who was a clever cartoonist released from prison, where he was serving for forgery, to help him in Oregon and another assistant was just out of the Idaho penitentiary, where he had served for burglary.

"The people may not always get what is best for them," Johnson's article concludes, "but in a democracy they will ultimately get what they want and what they want is what they deserve."

"God made a sheep's head, but but with; he made a man's head to think with. It is better to be a man than a sheep."

Immunity for Bank Looters.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

FOLLOWING the recent failures of several State banks I notice a demand for an increase in the number of examiners under the State Finance Commission and a demand for some changes in the banking laws has been resumed. There was the same sort of a demand a year or so ago.

Undoubtedly there should be more examiners, but conditions are not alone due to the inability of the department to make examinations of banks frequently. The main trouble, as I see it, is the tendency to operate the State Finance Department for the protection of the bankers instead of the protection of the public.

There have been a good many bank failures in Missouri during the past three or four years, several hundred. How many prosecutions have there been? And yet a responsible former State official told me only a few days ago that a former State Finance Commissioner told him that nearly all bank failures during his term were due, not to the much-abused term, "frozen assets," but to criminality by some individual.

There is no real reason for any bank official to be honest unless he wants to be. If he gets caught in criminality and pays back the money, he can escape the penitentiary. The punishment is not for the criminal act, but for the inability to pay up when caught.

A year ago a number of officers of a bank in La Due, Henry County, were indicted by a grand jury after the bank had been looted. A few weeks ago one of the indicted men paid up the money alleged to have been wrongfully taken. The State district judge let him go. He even paid the costs incurred in his prosecution. When the money came in the charges against all those indicted were promptly dismissed.

Burglary appears to be no offense (if it's a bank burglary) if the thief will give back the property. Most any burglar would be willing to do that. Perhaps next time he will not be caught and will not have to give it back.

Missouri has a law prohibiting an employee of the Finance Department from revealing any fact regarding any bank. The department has taken the absurd position that this also refers to banks which have failed and which the department has in process of liquidation. The Legislature only intended to protect banks and their customers in legitimate business. It did not intend that the law should be used to protect criminal bankers.

If the State Finance Department will give merciless publicity to crookedness in banks where it finds it; give such publicity promptly, and not connive to permit guilty persons to escape punishment if they return the loot, more will be done to protect the public than all the examiners that can be employed.

Let the department have more examiners, but also let the department realize that it is a public agency and not a private collection agency.

Alcoholism in St. Louis.

DR. STARKLOFF's report to Senator Edge in Tuesday's Post-Dispatch, on conditions in St. Louis of alcoholic and clinical cases, contains more than figures. It shows how the impracticable reforms that are trying to regulate the citizens' habits by law, have driven the people to clandestine habits that will be the cause of unborn generations.

J. J. MORONY.

Breese, Ill.

An Expression of Gratitude.

PLEASE let every member of the Police Relief Association know that we take off our hats to them for playing host to nearly 300 folks from the City Sanitarium, girls of Meramec Hills, Judge M. Hartmann's Cottage, and the Children's Training School at the Coliseum Monday afternoon.

Every year it strikes us afresh how wonderfully generous a thing it is for the Police Relief Association to provide free seats for our city's unfortunate at a performance, which is supposed to be a benefit for the police and their families.

And, as if this hospitality were not enough, they play their guests liberally with the usual circus "kats" to round out their afternoon of joy.

Those officers and patrolmen who witnessed the delight of their guests Monday received the only direct returns to be had for their kindness—a warm glow of the heart, but I hope that this letter will reflect to all of the members, the warm glow of gratitude from our hearts.

We hope that the circus plays to capacity houses for its full run. It certainly deserves to be a big financial success.

SECRECY IN BANK FAILURES.

In Letters From the People today a correspondent points out what seems to us a serious error in the policy of the State Department of Finance. The department, he says, is conducted more for the protection of the banker than for the protection of the public. He offers proof. When a bank fails, for instance, the department does not tell the depositors why it failed. It keeps its findings to itself. It refuses to speak except in criminal proceedings.

The department justifies this policy of secrecy under the law. The law reads thus:

"The Bank Commissioner, his deputies, clerk, stenographer, each examiner and every employee shall be bound, under oath, to keep secret all facts and information obtained in the course of all examinations, except so far as the public duty of such officer requires him to report upon or take special action regarding the affairs of any bank, private banker, savings and safe deposit company or trust company, and except when he is called on as a witness in any criminal proceedings or criminal trial in a court of justice."

Possibly the language warrants the department's construction. Certainly the department must jealously guard the information obtained by examiners in the ordinary performance of their duties. But when a bank fails the situation is changed. Whatever the cause of the failure—criminality, negligence or incompetency—the depositors or public have a right to know the cause and the identity of the criminal, negligent or incompetent person or persons responsible for the failure.

Our correspondent quotes a State official as saying that most of our bank failures are the result of criminality. He dismisses the familiar explanation, "frozen credits," as a threadbare alibi. That alibi surely has done yeoman service in Missouri in the last three years. It has earned a rest.

The Legislature will be asked at its next session to equip the Department of Finance with men and means sufficient to enable it to supervise our banks. This ought to be done. At the same time the secrecy which new shields bank failures should be ripped wide open. As a matter of sound public policy, as a matter of duty to depositors and as a matter of strict justice to bankers, the department should publish the facts about banks that have failed.

Further, the State should see to it that robbing a bank from the inside is just as reprehensible and perilous an exploit as is robbing a bank from the outside.

THE ALDERMEN REFUSE TO INTERFERE.

The Board of Aldermen, by the overwhelming vote of 21 to 4, refused to protest against the movement to recall Mayor Miller. The attitude of the body was expressed by Aldermen Reifling and Baur, who said that if the people consider a man unfit to hold the office of Mayor it is their business to recall him, and that any effort to get the Board of Aldermen to interfere is out of order. In which the Board of Aldermen proved itself very sensible.

Mussolini, so to speak, won by a nose.

CHURCH AND STATE IN MISSOURI.

While it is unfortunately true that the recent election contest at Clarence, Mo., was but a sporadic example of the injection of religious questions into politics, it is also true that Missouri, through her State Constitution, is one of the American commonwealths that most earnestly strove to keep State and church apart. While there is but one section in the Federal Constitution touching religion, which forbids Congress to enact any law "respecting the establishment of religion," the framers of the Missouri Constitution took the trouble to include four sections, covering every phase of the problem.

Section 5 sets forth fully the citizen's rights as to religious freedom. Section 6 prohibits any compulsion regarding support of or attendance on any place of worship. Section 7 forbids State aid to or preference of any church. And section 8 limits the purpose of incorporation of religious bodies to the holding of such real estate as may be prescribed by law.

Elections in support of candidates for office on the ground of their religious belief are manifestly contrary to the spirit of the Missouri Constitution, because the election of a candidate as the champion of a religious sect is the giving of aid and preference to that sect or religious unit. Carried into the political contests of states or the nation, the result would be that un-American union of church and state from which so many nations have suffered.

Song by the Mayor: "I Hear You Recalling Me."

THE TROUBLE WITH COREY.

No drums roll for Corey Millard, who is dead in Chicago at the age of 68. Millard died in the House of Correction, his white hair and seamed face framed by a gray jail pillow. It was not queer that he should die in jail. He was serving his fifty-fourth term. Of a life of nearly the allotted span, 40 years were spent behind bars. Was Corey Millard a great criminal? He was not.

When he died he was serving a term of four months for stealing two umbrellas from a department store. Nothing Homer in that. Millard was a thief all his life, but he never stole anything of much more value than the two umbrellas. If the fruit of all his numerous thefts was thrown into one pile it could be redeemed for $500—it was just a sorry lot of books and perhaps silver spoons—and two umbrellas.

Millard was the son of a Milwaukee minister and a street in Chicago is named in honor of his uncle. He was, we may surmise, gently reared. What, then, was wrong? Let a hardened officer, Police Captain Evans, analyze this wretched career.

"The trouble with Corey," says the Captain, "was that after he was sent to prison three times he became an habitual criminal and every time he was picked up he was sent to Joliet. That's the way it works. Petty larceny is called grand larceny when a man's convicted three times."

After three errors, society put a criminal brand on Millard. After that, all his misdemeanors were magnified into felonies. "That's the way it works," says the Captain. And what a fearful penalty it took in Millard's case: 40 dismal years for a few books and silver spoons—and two umbrellas. IT—society—was the trouble with Corey.

The North Pole appears to be in peril of overpopulation.

THE SACRED VOLSTEAD ACT.

Federal District Attorney Buckner of New York stated to the Senate Judiciary Committee that in order to enforce prohibition in New York City it would not only be necessary to create Federal police courts and vastly increase the number of prohibition agents, at a cost of $75,000,000, but that jail sentences should be substituted for fines and trial by jury be abandoned.

In short, the cost of prohibition enforcement would be the cost of a war, an unlimited increase in jail capacity and a complete abandonment of constitutional guarantees.

By the time we got through amending the Constitution to fit the needs of prohibition enforcement there would be nothing in the Constitution but an unlimited power conferred on the Federal Government, without a right or liberty left to the people.

But what is the Constitution compared with the sacred Volstead act? Senator Reed aptly put it when he remarked: "I suppose we ought to abolish every Saxon right, so as to prevent someone from selling a glass of beer."

GOLIATH WINS.

In the Brookhart-Steck contest the Senate Committee on Elections and Privileges has reported in favor of seating Steck, and usually the Senate adopts this committee's report. It will not do so in this instance, our Washington correspondent predicts. There's a reason—several reasons.

Should Brookhart be unseated he would enter the primaries against Senator Cummins, and would probably win. The Senate majority remembers that Brookhart almost defeated Cummins six years ago. And that majority is too slight to risk any avoidable losses.

Further, Brookhart has made peace, or at least arranged an armistice, with his Republican colleagues. He has renounced his heresy. He has promised to be good. So by seating him the majority gains a convert and saves a faithful.

There seems to be no question about Steck's election, if the intent of the voters were alone considered. So that in seating Brookhart the Senate will have to nullify the verdict of Iowa citizens as delivered at the polls. That is a pretty serious thing to do, but the exigencies of politics often require the doing of serious things. With that reasoning the Senate can justify its action.

Ah, but there's the sanctity of the ballot box, is there not? There is, indeed. But that is an abstraction, while guarding and conserving control of the Senate is practical politics. And in a contest between the David of abstraction and the Goliath of practical politics, Goliath pretty regularly wins, and by a knockout.

A COSTLY FIRE.

Thirty million gallons of crude petroleum have been destroyed by fire, caused by lightning, in San Luis Obispo, California.

The gasoline content in this amount of crude oil represents in automobile travel 900,000,000 miles, and, allowing the very modest estimate of 12 miles to the gallon, it would drive every car and truck in the State of Missouri 3600 miles.

Get ready for the next advance in the price of gas.

THE AMERICAN GOSPEL, OR $38 A TUB.

During a round-the-world cruise of the Beigenland which lasted four months Miss Lillian Mendal of New York paid $38 a day for a private bath.—Associated Press dispatch.

She was a bath missionary. Whilst the transatlantic Atlantic rolled its crests into greenish mountains and the great unwashed in the stowage of the good ship Beigenland remained unwashed, Miss Mendal bathed at $38 a tub. In the smoke of Liverpool, where baths are for the gentry, who take them cold and not as often, therefore, as they boast, Miss Mendal ablated in steaming waters. When the Beigenland visited the Riviera, where bathing is fashionable, yet not universal, Miss Mendal put Latin dalliers to shame. She was still bathing at $38 a tub when the steamer touched Calcutta; that city of sheikhs and fleas and soapless emuls.

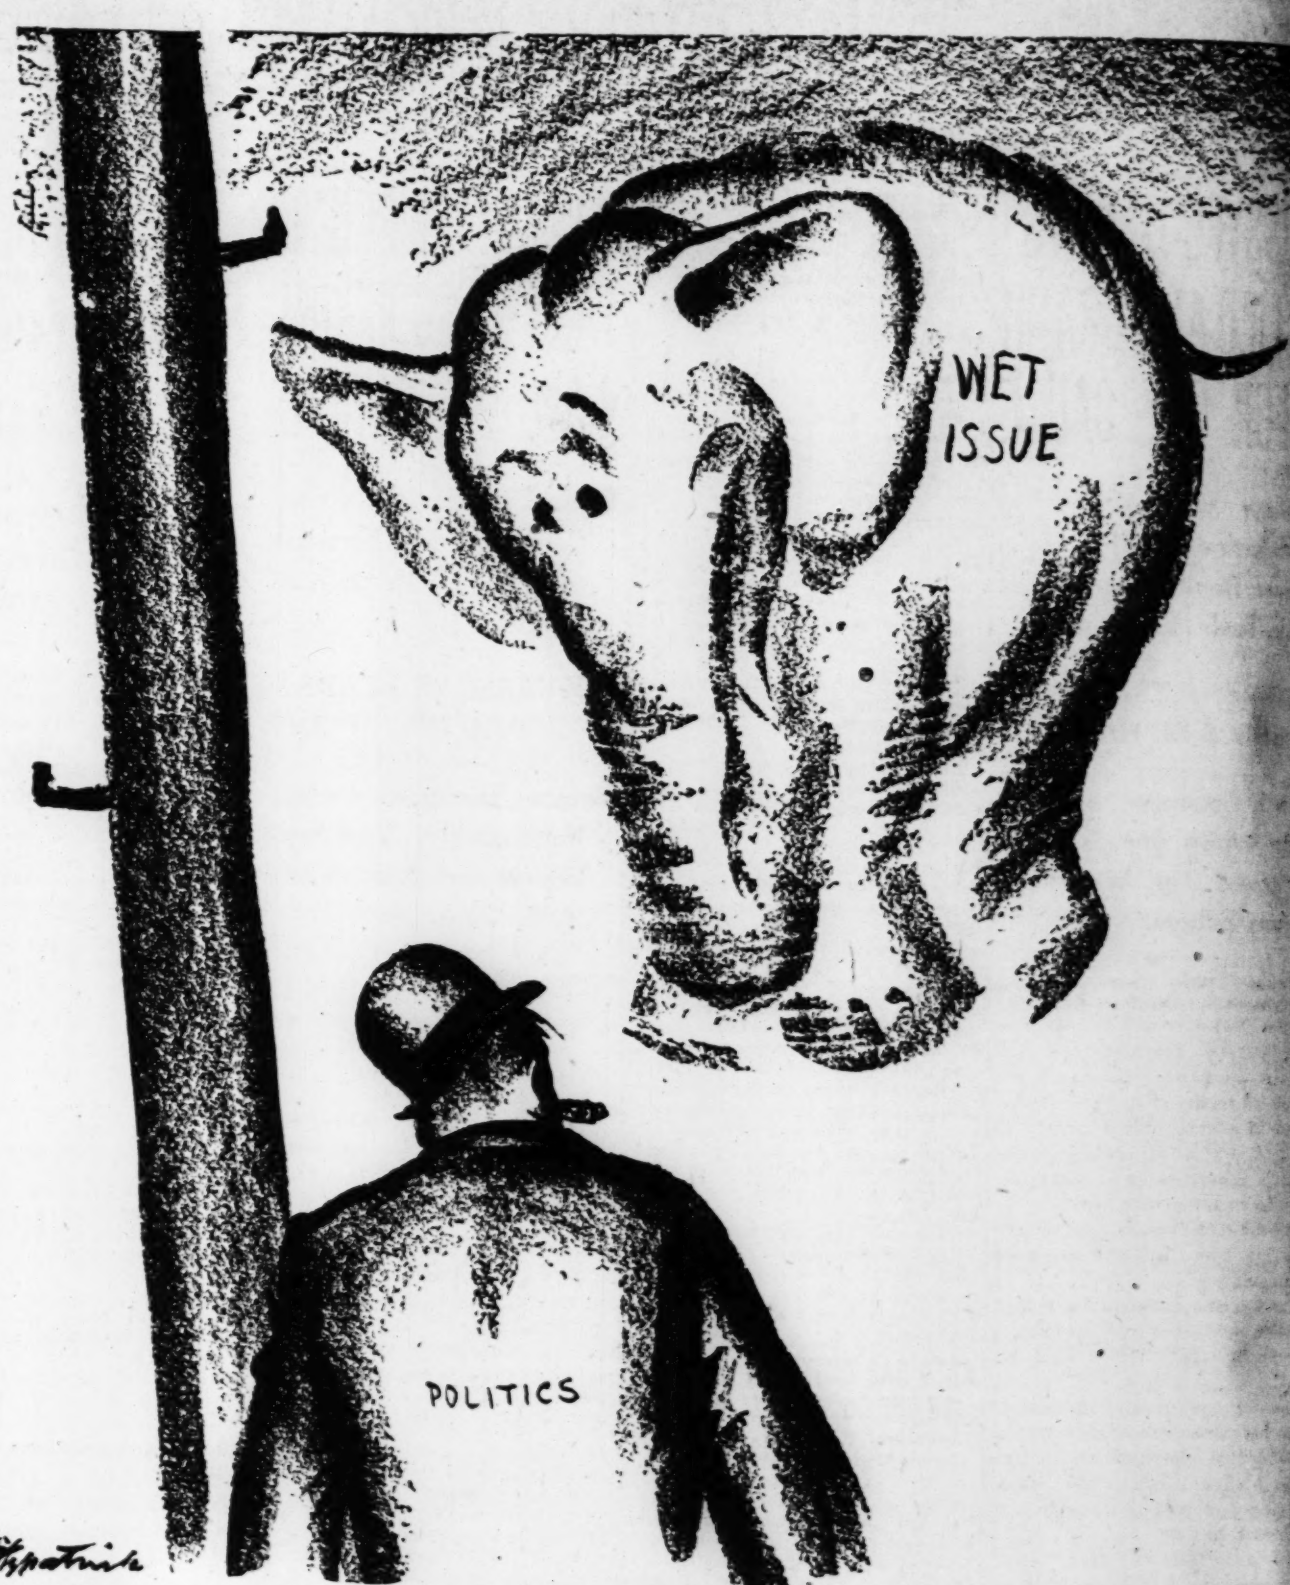

At Singapore, where bathing is still regarded as a weird Christian rite, Miss Mendal sponged luxuriously. Calcutta found her still in possession of her $38-a-day private bath, although it was not bathing season in the Ganges. The natives of the South Africanveldt heard with wonder of the white memsahib on the fire-boat who paid $38 a day for a bath. The marvel of it was much talked about in the bazars of Hongkong. So America heard the tale and the Islands of the South Seas, and it spread even to Asia, where only the Japanese in Tokio expressed understanding. Outlying provinces of the Island Empire could not quite grasp the idea of anyone paying $38 a day for a private bath; when $38 worth of soap would wash an entire town delightfully in a public tub.

At $38 a tub the gospel of cleanliness comes high. It is not for the poor.

The fact that payments are customarily made on the installment plan softens the announcement of an insurance statistician that it costs $6167 to rear a girl to the age of 18 years, with a $90 discount for a boy.

PSYCHOANALYSIS.

I shall not see my love tonight—
She trifles much, and that's not right:
The one my heart shall hold as dear
Must not hold love so light, I fear:
She thinks that love is but a game,
If we must part, then here's the blame:
Since wealth of beauty is her delight
I shall not see my love tonight.

I shall not see my love tonight—
I'll neither use the 'phone nor write:
Who plays with fire expects a burn, Partisan himself. The entire mess seems
To have been built, not on artistic grounds,
but as a model for Moccasin sets for boys.
Beyond this it has no merits. At a Paris exhibition, some stunt engineer thought to startle the world by erecting perhaps the ugliest and most useless structure of steel uplift and most useless structure of steel one could imagine, and as he built it so big and strong that no one has had the energy to dismantle it, it still remains an eyesore in a garden city.

But to E. Pluribus Unum it constitutes a giant piece of engineering, whose bigness overpowers him and gains his respect and admiration. The more so, nowadays, because it has lately been put to commercial use. Straggly wireless aerials and a monstrous electric sign advertising automobile tires aid in making the landscape round about there a good deal worse than it was with only the Tower, which goodness knows was bad enough. The matter of the electric sign, especially, has shocked the artistic sense of every intelligent Frenchman to such an extent that he is continually protesting in newspapers and speech about the vandal hand of commercialism destroying every vestige of Parisian beauty.

The Tower seems to have been built primarily for the sale of souvenirs. Every household necessity, from tin kettles to baby linen can be purchased here with the heraldic brand of Eiffelism boldly marked somewhere on its outside. Even in the brief journey in the elevator that lifts you to the successive stages of the monument,
the conductor takes advantage of the fact that you can't very well escape, in order to force on you brass medallions, souvenirs of your ascent.

Moreover, you can dine and wine at these high altitudes in a freak restaurant, or amuse yourself generally by looking down at the panorama below. For the sum of five francs, a pen-and-ink artist will draw your caricature in less than five minutes.
To most visitors this is the supreme marvel of the Tower.

Such are the wonders of the world's greatest nick-nack shop, where the world's greatest rubbish at the world's most exorbitant prices is sold to the world's prize pigmy. But, perhaps Paris is wiser after all in selling souvenirs at the Tower, for it is not improbable that if their sale were discontinued, the whole structure would be transported piecemeal out of France in the bags of relic-hunting Americans.

INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

Sir: Probably through the influence of our wealthy traveling Babbitts, Paris has come to mean, to that sedulous geyser of our populace which is not yet disillusioned, largely Montmartre and the Eiffel Tower.
Of the former I have nothing to say. Try it on yourself. Of the far-famed Tower, however, a few pertinent facts may be in order.

The Tower is, without doubt, the most hideous structure in Paris. No one has such an utter contempt for "la Tour" as the Parisian himself. The entire mess seems to have been built, not on artistic grounds,
but as a model for Moccasin sets for boys.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

TRUE PHILANTHROPI.

From the Washington Star.

SIR HENRY LUNN, an English millionaire, has announced that he intends to turn over his entire property and all his income, except $2500 a year and his expenses, to a trust foundation devoted to the purpose of promoting unity among the churches and concord among the nations. The great fortune has been amassed through the successful management of resort hotels in Switzerland and of tourist agencies. It will be administered by trustees, including Sir Henry's sons, to support all movements toward international peace. This philanthropist, ordained as a minister, went to India a good many years ago as a medical missionary. After his retirement from that work he established himself as a hotel proprietor and tourist agent, starting in the field with the aim particularly of making civilians to travel. His hotels and his agencies prospered greatly and he is now accounting for his stewardship by the peculiar surrender of his immense fortune. He does not wait for death, but makes his endowment during his lifetime in order that he may devote himself to the work which he is thus commencing. He will travel as a lecturer throughout the world to forward the better understanding of denominations and of nations.

KENTUCKY POETS.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

IT seems that, after all, the Kentucky Senate is not to have a poet laureate at all, as the silly, un-American bill for the creation of a Kentucky poet laureate passed the House as well as the Senate, though it escaped the attention of the reporters who covered the proceedings of the House. So it now depends on the Governor, if he has not already signed the measure, whether Kentucky is to desert a poet laureate, to take his place with the other other jewels the Kentucky colonials and the admiral of Beargrass creek.

WHY WE LOVE SIR THOMAS.

From the New York Telegraph.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON, at Southampton, bound for New York to challenge again
our sailing boats, said he would exchange his prize for a ticket for that bit of pewter, known as the America cup. More than a few are there who would like to win better than to see Sir Thomas get the cup, and keep his trophies, too. There never was a more gallant sportsman or better loser than this Irish sailor.

A MATTER OF SPIDS.

From the New Orleans Item.

A MISSISSIPPI woman found a snake in a potato as she pared it. It was from the growing in Nebraska and asked that the summer let him know what she paid for it.
He sold to the dealer for $3.25 a 100 per cent. The lady had paid seven cents a pound for them, or twice what the planter got. This is not the most interesting and profitable point to the story. Why do Mississippian farmers and smalltown residents, with their soil and climate, have to buy Irish potatoes from Nebraska farmers?

MISS DOROTHY CRAMER
TO WED J. F. REYNOLDS

Announcement of Engagement
Made in Detroit—Dinner Dances in Her Honor.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made in Detroit of the engagement of Miss Dorothy Cramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil R. Cramer of 227 Greeley avenue, Webster Groves, and John Page Reynolds, son of the late Judge Matthew G. Reynolds of St. Louis. The wedding date has not been announced.

Miss Cramer told a few St. Louis friends of her betrothal prior to her departure for Detroit, where she is the guest of Miss Betty Hendrie. After the wedding Mr. Reynolds will take his bride to Detroit, where he has been residing since his graduation from Cornell University. He was a classmate of Miss Hendrie's brother, George, and Walter J. Hock, who married Miss Dorothy Simmons of St. Louis two years ago.

Miss Cramer is a graduate of Mary Institute and Miss Wright's School in Bryn Mawr, Pa., and is a member of the Junior League. She made her debut two years ago and served as maid of honor at the Velled Prophet ball.

Mr. Reynolds is the brother of Mrs. George Grunert, wife of Col. Grunert, U. S. A., stationed at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz.; Mrs. F. W. Meyersburg of Pittsburgh, Miss Lucy and Miss Mary Reynolds of St. Louis and Maj. Clark Reynolds, U. S. A., of Virginia.

The prospective bride is being much feted during her stay. Miss Hendrie gave a dinner for her at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club Saturday night, and three dinner dances are scheduled.

Miss Eleanor Hellmuth of 414 Lake avenue is being much entertained in Washington, D. C., by her sister, Mrs. Thornton Boland. Mrs. Boland gave a large tea Monday, when those assisting the hostess were Miss Varela, wife of the Minister of Uruguay; Mrs. Davenport White, Mrs. Wilbur Turner, Mrs. Charles G. Matthews, Mrs. Absalom Weller, Mrs. Jan Van Den Bosch and Mrs. Arthur Tirrill. On Thursday Mrs. Boland gave a luncheon for her sister.

Mrs. Emily Crawford of Little Rock, Ark., has arrived to be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. W. L. Hemmingsway, of 7711 Henderson avenue, Clayton.

Miss Aileen Lonsdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Lonsdale of 4921 Lindell boulevard, who has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. George L. Brewer, in Atlanta, Ga., for two months, will remain to play in the Junior League Follies, to be given there for one week, later in April, and for three week-ends in May, in which she will be a member of the bridal parties. She will return home May 15.

Mrs. and Mrs. Wallace D. Simmons of 46 Westmoreland place and their daughter, Miss Eleanor, who spent the Easter season at Hot Springs, Va., are now registered at the Hotel Lorraine in St. Louis. Miss Simmons will go to Montclair, N. J., to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Mary Aileen Kelsey and Wallace Herndon Smith tomorrow.

The St. Louis Woman's Club has announced a lecture by Mr. Milton C. Work of the New York Whist Club in the ballroom of the clubhouse Friday, April 23, at 8 o'clock. Reservations may be made by telephoning the club or through any of its members. The lecture is open to nonmembers.

Miss Belle Sherwin, national president of the League of Women Voters, will arrive in St. Louis today and will be entertained at dinner this evening at the Junior League Tea room by the members of the Convention Board, who have all the arrangements in hand for the seventh annual convention, National League of Women Voters, which opens Wednesday, April 14. The following women will be hostesses to Miss Sherwin this evening: Mrs. E. W. Ritz, chairman; Miss V. V. Mayes, secretary; Mrs. Roscoe Anderson, Mrs. C. V. Beck, Mrs. Irvin Bettman, Miss Virginia Black, Mrs. Marion C. Blossom, Mrs. O. K. Boward, Mrs. Alfred Buschman, Mrs. B. G. Chapman, Mrs. F. B. Clarke, Mrs. Jerome E. Cook, Mrs. M. D. "OUR DESTINY ON SEA," SAYS MUSSOLINI

Dictator Tells Provincial Secretaries They Should Be Familiar With Warships.

By the Associated Press.

ABOARD THE ITALIAN CRUISER CONTE DI CAVOUR, April 9.—This warship, bearing Premier Mussolini to the Italian colony of Tripoli, steamed out of the harbor at Gaeta last night for the voyage across the Mediterranean.

Mussolini boarded the cruiser at Fiumicino, a short journey from Rome. When the warship reached Gaeta a brief stop was made to enable Augusto Turatti, secretary-general of the Fascist party, and the other members of the Fascist directorate, who had accompanied the Premier, to disembark.

Mussolini's narrow escape from death in Rome has had no apparent effect either on his spirits or his physical condition. His wound is giving him little trouble.

The voyage to Tripoli, with a show of naval force, is for the purpose, as set forth in the newspapers, of demonstrating the value of the future as a united nation, conscious of its needs, and further, more to emphasize the value of Italy's colonial possessions for the future development of the nation.

In introducing the provincial secretaries to the members of the directorate, Mussolini said:

"This ceremony is held on a warship for four reasons:

"First, I wish you to render homage to our glorious navy, in which are based our hopes for the future; second, I want you to become familiar with these instruments of war; third, I wish that upon this warship your inspirations and spirits may be enlarged; fourth, because, coming from territories more or less inland, your naval consciences should be completely awakened.

"We are of the Mediterranean, and our destiny, without patterning after anyone, has been and always will be on the sea."

Rivers Bill Reported to House. WASHINGTON, April 9.—A $36,000,000 rivers and harbors omnibus bill, embracing 22 projects and 109 engineering surveys, was reported to the House today by its Rivers and Harbors Committee.

Oregon Motor Club Official Here. George O. Brandenburg, secretary and general manager of the Oregon State Motor Association, Portland, said he had learned more concerning the operation of an automobile club here than he had in New York or Chicago, after visiting departments of the Automobile Club of Missouri here, yesterday. Brandenburg is making an extensive survey of clubs throughout the country.

World Church Rally Delegates. NEW YORK, April 9.—The Episcopal Church in the United States has elected 19 representatives to attend the World Conference on Faith and Order, which meets at Lausanne, Switzerland, in August, 1927. It is announced. They include Bishop Edward L. Parsons of California; Rev. W. Cosby Bell, professor at the Virginia Theological Seminary; Rev. B. Talbot Rogers, rector at Sunbury, Pa., and Mr. Frederick C. Morehouse of Milwaukee, Wis., editor of The Living Church.

ROCKEFELLER TELLS ABOUT ST. PAUL DEAL

Didn't Know of Commission
for Gary Purchase, but Part Went to His Company.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 9.—Percy A.
Rockefeller, son of William Rockefeller and nephew of John D.
Rockefeller, testified before the Interstate Commerce Commission that he had not been consulted by officials of National City Bank or of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. before the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, in which his father for many years had a large interest, was thrown into receivership.

The question of the financial arrangements made by Wall street institutions preceding the receivership was raised a year ago by the Bondholders' Defense Committee, of which L. E. Janssen, president of the Globe and Rutgers Insurance Co. is the leading figure.

After Mr. Rockefeller yesterday had professed no more than casual knowledge of the receivership arrangements, the questioning centered upon the acquisition of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul
by President Bryan of the St. Paul.
Rockefeller testified the proposals made to Bryan by the sellers of the Gary line, Samuel Pryor and H.
L. Winchell, were in a sealed letter which Rockefeller forwarded.

$350,000 Commission.
Previous testimony taken by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Cox showed that Pryor and Winchell received $150,000 each in bonds of the Gary line for their services.
Rockefeller said he, Frederick B.
Adams and Pryor controlled a little corporation known as the Owenoke Corporation. The witness said it could do "anything but engage in banking." He said Adams had been active in affairs of the corporation, and he himself had advanced money to it. Pryor, because of other interests, had been unable to give time or money to the concern. Therefore, Rockefeller said, Pryor, in order to hold his end, had contributed the $150,000
he received for selling the Gary line.

The effect of this admission was to show that apparently Rockefeller, as one of the three owners of Owenoke, is $350,000 richer because of the sale of the Gary road. Previous testimony had been offered that the purchase of the Gary road was a discount deal for the St.
Paul, and a contributing cause to the St. Paul receivership.

Didn't Know of Commission.
"I never knew that Mr. Pryor had a commission on a Gary transaction until I returned from my trip abroad in June, 1922," Rockefeller said. "The whole situation was this: Mr. Pryor, Mr. Adams and I have been in the Owenoke Corporation some time. Mr. Adams has given his time, and I have frequently added fresh capital. Since Mr. Pryor was busy in the Remington Arms Co., of which he is chief executive, and had contributed no additional capital, he suggested that he turn over the Gary bonds to make up his obligations to the Owenoke. All through the negotiation with the St. Paul for the purchase of the Gary line, I never knew that Mr. Pryor was to get a commission."

Rockefeller earlier in the day had been asked if he didn't know that Pryor and Winchell received $150,000 each as a result of the Gary sale.

"I didn't know that," he answered then.

According to the findings of W.
H. Carleton, field investigator for the Interstate Commerce Commission, the St. Paul has lost $10,000, 000 through the purchase of the Gary line and the Terre Haute Belt line property.

Rockefeller testified he had been a director of the St. Paul from 1908 to 1921, when he had resigned partly because of Federal action against interlocking directorates.
He had since kept in touch with the St. Paul's fortunes. His father's holdings in the railroad had been large, 150,000 shares of common stock. After his father's death part of his father's remaining 40, 000 shares were sold to pay inheritance taxes and the balance, about three years ago. At present Rockefeller said he owns about 1600 shares of St. Paul common.

AMBULANCE DRIVER GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE NEGRO WOMAN
White Man Chosen From Among Volunteers at Hospital After Friends Refuse to Serve.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 9.—A Negro woman rests comfortably in Holy Family Hospital, Brooklyn, with a pint of a white man's blood in her veins. She lives probably only because Harry Hughes, an ambulance driver, volunteered for a transfusion after some of her friends had refused.
Mrs. Annette Robinson, 38 years old, was taken to the hospital Tuesday bleeding from her ears, mouth, nostrils and internally. Her blood would not coagulate. Relatives and friends were informed that an immediate blood transfusion was necessary. Volunteers among the hospital staff were asked for. Several came forward.

Among them was Hughes, who, as an ambulance driver, is accustomed to assisting in saving lives of persons without inquiring what is their station in life or their color. His blood was found to be best constituted to aid Mrs. Robinson. Another driver went to relieve him and he was taken to the women's ward, where the operation was performed. Mrs. Robinson later was declared out of danger.

A remarkable, convincing tribute different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally and is pleasant to take."

F. C. AMISNER,
Kenneth, Seattle, Washington.

WILLS GOES SOUTH WITH STAFF TO START TRAINING FOR DEMPSEY

APRIL 15 IS DATE SET FOR SIGNING UP

Payment of $25,000 to Negro's Manager to Bind Championship Match Due to Be Made Then.

By Fair Play.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Departing for his farm down in Virginia with a staff of sparring partners to get ready for his championship and other bouts, Harry Wills expressed no great optimism over his prospect of getting into the ring with Jack Dempsey this year.

No man could have spoken with greater forbearance of Dempsey than Wills did. In fact Harry was so reserved in his conversation about the heavyweight title that his interviewer began to wonder whether or not there is something in the wind.

April 15, for example, is an important date in one respect at least. It is upon this day that Floyd Fitzsimmons and others interested in the Niles, Mich., agreement between Dempsey and Wills will have to come forward and complete the $25,000 payment which Wills was to receive by virtue of this contract.

Some say that Mullins, Harry's manager, received $5000 of this sum when he affixed his name to the agreement. Others say he has never said anything. But a considerable amount of cash is still due the firm of Mullins, Wills and Company.

Richard Will Be There. Tex Rickard will be in the Middle West in mid-April. He says he is going to be there on business connected with his projected Chicago arena.

In the meantime, Tex is full of plans of various sorts. One is a project to have Rocky Kansas defend his lightweight title against Solly Seeman.

It indicates the poor state into which the lightweight division has fallen when the fans are asked to save up their coin to pay their way into a Kansas-Seeman bout.

Allen Hall Leads Kieckhefer in 3-Cushion Match

St. Louisan Scores 50 to 42 in 45 Innings in First Block of 250-Point Contest.

By Dent McKimming.

Allen Hall holds a lead of eight points over Augie Kieckhefer in their 250-point three-cushion billiard match as a result of his 50 to 42 victory over the Chicagoan at Peterson's last night. When they meet this afternoon Hall will continue shooting with the balls in favorable position. The match will be concluded tomorrow evening 58 points being played that Saturday afternoon and evening.

Kieckhefer was the victim of some bad breaks last night. It required only 45 innings to finish the game for Hall had a run of nine and two of five on his string. He had 40 points when he reached the 30-inning mark and then he hit a slump. It took him 15 innings to get the remaining 10 points.

Great Year for Three Cushions.

"An average of one doesn't mean much any more," said Hall in discussing the caliber of play in the National Three-Cushion League during the past season. "Every player in the league improved his average 20 per cent over the preceding year. I went from 70 to 90. Last year I averaged 70 and I was a factor in the race. This year I averaged 90 and I wasn't close to the leaders.

"Reisel's game this season was so mechanically perfect that it sometimes appeared the only thing that could keep him from scoring was for a leg to drop off the table. The best game record and the high run record were both broken several times, and every player in the league ran out at least once in 20 innings. Johnny Layton took the prize by gathering 18 points in one inning. The figures show that it was the greatest year of competitive three-cushion billiards in the history of the game."

Youngest Players in League. Hall and Kieckhefer, the youngest players in the National Three-Cushion League, are regarded as among the most entertaining players in the circuit. They are even matched to an astonishing degree. In 43 league matches Hall beat Kieckhefer 23 times, while Augie beat Hall 23 times. In 200 points of tournament play, their grand average is almost the same. Hall uses the diamond system in his play, while Kieckhefer relies upon his intuition and a sense of angles developed through years of tournament experience. Kieckhefer plays with considerably more "english" on his ball. New table conditions affect his game more easily than they bother Hall, and it is expected that Kieckhefer will give a better performance in the later blocks of the match.

Yale Retains Title. NEW YORK, April 9.—Yale University retained the Intercollegiate indoor polo championship last night by defeating Pennsylvania Military College 19 goals to minus 25. The New Haven team has been champion the past three years. Pennsylvania Military's seven fouls against one goal gave it the minus figures, each foul being penalized by half a goal.

Frankie Baum to Try Under Local Colors in Tuesday Tourney Frank Baum, a brother of Max Baum, the St. Louisan (Ill.) flyweight boxer who was popular in local pugilistic circles five years ago, will make his debut in amateur milt competition next Tuesday night as a preliminary candidate on the bi-monthly tournament program at the South Broadway A. C. The St. Louisan bantam has joined the Business Men's A. C. squad of this city, and he will fight under the colors of that organization. Tuesday night's tournament contestants in the prelim competition are: Harry Doyle and Charles Florence, Tower A. C.; and Paul Ferno, St. Louis Boxing Club.

Tuesday night's prelim card has attracted a total of 20 entries, according to Willie Miller, chairman of the matchmaking committee. The South Broadway A. C. and Business Men's A. C. have each filed five entries, while the Tower A. C. has sent in the names of seven boxers.

A featherweight sette between Frank Sims of the Business Men's A. C. and Morris Greenberg of the National A. A. is the feature event of three special bouts to be staged as headliners.

Swarthmore Team Wins. SWARTHMORE, Pa., April 9.—Swarthmore College defeated the Oxford-Cambridge Lacrosse team here yesterday, 11 to 5.

Girl Basketball Player Averaged 12 Goals a Game BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 9.—THE season's national scoring record for girl basketball players is claimed for Helen Eichert, 16-year-old captain of the Welch High School champions of Southern West Virginia.

She averaged 12 field goals a game and in three contests tallied from the field 53 times, counting 18 baskets in one of the games and 17 in each of the other two.

HUSBAND'S TASTE FOR FOOD
PUZZLES THE YOUNG BRIDE

Wise Wives for Health and Happiness' Sake
Construct the Family Menu Around Husband's Food Preferences.

THE morning mail brings many problems to the Home Economics Department of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Probably the most interesting question received today was from a young bride who seems much disturbed over the question as to whether she should build the family menu around the tastes and preferences of her husband or master of the house, or whether she should build it around her own food likes and dislikes. While the young bride imagines there is a perfectly unique situation, the majority of young wives who become housekeepers when they become wives, are confronted with exactly the same conditions.

"The wise woman does not let him suspect it, but in her heart she knows that her husband is but a child of a larger growth. In accordance, she assumes cheerfully the responsibility of seeing he has food that is best suited to his age and occupation. Left to their own choosing, men display more common sense in their food than do some women. They will lunch, for example, on plain bread and "half and half," while their wives are consuming fried crabs and chocolate ice cream soda. The point is that the masculine luncheon of bread and milk is usually chosen with an eye to an afternoon of efficient work. When the same man is at home he is apt to eat whatever his wife sets before him, and so it behooves her to make a detailed study of the whole nutrition problem. Such is a part of the job she assumed when she took upon herself matrimonial responsibilities.

But before she begins to make her menu according to the masculine standard, let her first ascertain as nearly as possible what the man's preferences are. For example, is the wife who offers her husband dishes that are plainly related to his own special favorites. A recent publication is a book which includes only such recipes of which were contributed by men. Strange to say, the conclusion is forced upon us that men, if left to themselves, choose nourishing food.

In attempting to smooth out our young bride's perplexities, the first suggestion offered her is to study the value of foods. Because she illustrates the radical system of substituting his favorite dishes on the family menu instead of those that she thinks "simply adorable" let her examine a list of masculine favorite foods with her eyes open to their nutritive value. Then let her polish up her technique in cooking and preparing these dishes, and the prediction is that everybody in the family will be happy. For there is opportunity to mix considerable psychology in this feeding of the lords of creation. Crusaders, wives and housekeepers are advised to study first the food habits of those men who do their own choosing. The resulting menu is likely to take on unexpected character, women are likely to have a new respect for masculine common sense and family harmony is likely to be considerably enhanced.

This done, it is for the woman to let the man's preferences into a well rounded program of food service pretty nifty with spaghetti

Orange Pudding.

Have ready a mixing bowl and in this place four heaping tablespoons of cornmeal. Add a cup of molasses and a scant teaspoon of salt. Over this mixture pour six cups of scalding hot milk, stirring to keep entirely free from lumps. Pour the mixture into a buttered pudding dish on the bottom of which has been placed a layer of candied orange peel. When the pudding mixture is in the dish add last of all a cup of cold milk. Bake four and a half hours in a hot oven and serve with cream. This recipe is adapted from a special group from Mrs. Ronald.

How to Cool Pies.

A pie that is properly baked will slip from the tin with careful handling, and if placed on a wire frame where the air has access to the bottom, it will cool without becoming moist, and when ready to be served, can be transferred to a plate with perfect safety.

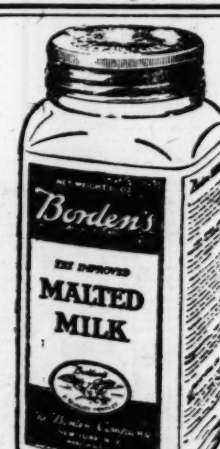

Apples and Sausage.

Core ruddy apples and place a sausage in each cavity. Bake until apple is tender and red skin is cracked. Baste frequently with sausage fat. Serve with baked potatoes and a crisp salad.

Creamed Potatoes.

A quick and satisfactory method of creaming potatoes is as follows: Have the potatoes well cooked, peeled and cut in dice. Place in a frying-pan; dredge with flour cover with cold milk; add butter and place directly over the flame. This method is quite different from the carefully made white sauce, but nevertheless, when the housewife is in a hurry it is a very good substitute. The potatoes should be stirred with a silver fork as they cook and tossed lightly about so that the milk, butter and flour may form a smooth cream sauce. Incidentally, creamed potatoes prepared in this fashion are worthy of appearing as the main dish of a supper or luncheon. If they are placed in a pudding dish sprinkled with cheese and creamed and browned in the oven they are still more nourishing.

In preparing scalding milk in a double boiler, the milk is usually at the proper temperature when the water in the lower part of the boiler comes to the boiling point.

Why Cereals Are Indispensable
To the Daily Diet

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York.

ONE of the improved foods of modern days is the cereal. Corn meal mush and oatmeal were all we used to have in this line. How different it is now. Wheat, barley, rye and rice have been added to the list.

It is too bad that some of the cereal preparations have been sadly denatured. The outer layers of the grain have been removed, leaving nothing but the starchy interior. This is lacking in the multitude of virtues which the whole grain possesses.

But most of the cereals, put up in attractive packages, are honestly prepared. Steam baked, popped—no matter how the grain is prepared, if it is served with all its good qualities intact, you have a dish good for your body.

Some races live almost exclusively on cereals. This is possible because the whole grains contain, not only the starch which is their chief ingredient, but also the nitrogenous elements which furnish the repair materials.

The intestinal action is not what it should be unless we take a certain quantity of roughage every day. Cereal contains cellulose. This comes from the fibrous part of the grain, chiefly the husk.

Fried Mush.

We are too apt to think of cornmeal as being the only breakfast porridge that lends itself to slicing and frying. Almost any well-cooked cereal that has been made rather stiff can be molded and sliced for frying. These fried mushes offer an opportunity for quite a variety of accompaniments. The standard syrup may be varied by a home-made syrup or by a dressing of stewed, fresh or canned, fruit.

In purchasing beef for hamburger it is better to buy the round and have it chopped. Meat from the round contains a larger percentage of nourishment than almost any other cut.

A Flavoring Secret.

When I wish to give a particularly nice flavor to a cake I turn it from the tin upon some rose-geranium leaves that have previously been washed and dried, and leave it there until it cools. The flavor which the steam draws from the leaves is quickly absorbed by the cake and makes the latter delicious. The same method may be applied whether you are making either loaf or layer cake. In the case of the latter it is best to place the leaves between the layers.

Young beets may be cooked with their tops and stems and all served together. Serve buttered or with vinegar as preferred.

FIVE O'CLOCK TEAS
ARE THE VOGUE

Small Sweet Cakes and Tea
Are Nice Refreshments
for Such Functions.

NOW that afternoon tea has become something of an institution in this country, hostesses are on the lookout for easily made tea cakes and cookies to serve with the tea. Spicy nut cookies are excellent if made according to the following directions:

Cream a half cupful of shortening with three-quarters of a cup of brown sugar and add a pinch of salt. Beat together two eggs, one teaspoon of cinnamon and a half teaspoon of cloves or nutmeg. Dissolve one-half teaspoon of soda in a third of a cup of boiling water and add this mixture to the sugar mixture. Add a cup and one-half of sifted flour and beat thoroughly. Add a cup of seeded raisins and a half cup of broken walnut meats. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet and bake for 15 minutes in a moderate oven.

To make a pot of perfect tea, an expert in the United States Department of Agriculture directs one to bring freshly drawn water to a boil; pour it on the requisite amount of tea (one even teaspoonful for each cup in a previously scalded pot, allow it to remain covered for three minutes; then decant or strain into another receptacle. The spent leaves should never be used again.

Stuffed Tomatoes.

Often macaroni and cheese seem unpalatable when cold. I have found that scooping out the insides of firm, large tomatoes and filling them with this left-over macaroni makes a pleasing luncheon dish. Place the stuffed tomatoes in a baking dish with a little water in the bottom to steam them and bake in a moderate oven about 20 or 30 minutes.

In general any dish that is made from leftovers and is to be re-cooked requires a very hot oven. It should be remembered that such dishes are not suitable for children or those who have delicate digestions.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

How to Cook and Serve Food That Is Both Palatable and Nourishing.

Braised Steak

PREPARE two pounds from the lower part of the round by cutting in small pieces. Dredge each piece with flour. Add pepper and salt and brown in savory drippings. Place in a covered saucepan; cover with boiling water and simmer for about two hours.

Housewife's Timbale.
When hominy is served as a breakfast porridge, press what is left into a greased timbale mold. When ready to serve remove from mold and place in a baking dish. Sprinkle a little minced onion and some dried bread crumbs on it. Grate a thin layer of cheese on top and brown in a hot oven. This may be served plain as a vegetable.

Chestnut Pudding.
Two cups chestnuts, one-half teaspoon cornstarch, one-quarter cup sugar, few grains of salt, two tablespoons powdered sugar, two cups milk, two eggs, one tablespoon water, one-third teaspoon vanilla, two tablespoons powdered sugar. Blanch the chestnuts after boiling and sift. Mix with the sugar and milk and bring all to a boiling point. Stir in the salt and thicken with the cornstarch, which has been rubbed smooth in the water. Cook for a few moments longer, stirring until quite smooth. Separate the eggs, beat the yolks and stir into the chestnut mixture. Add the vanilla and place in a buttered pudding pan. Bake in a pan of hot water until brown. This will take about 45 minutes. Have ready a meringue made from the egg whites, the powdered sugar and place this on top. Return to heat until the meringue is brown.

Nut Cutlets

One-third cup nut meats chopped, one-third cup milk, one teaspoon salt, three tablespoons water, one teaspoon calumet, one egg, two and three-quarters cups bread crumbs. After roasting the nut meats combine the materials and make in small flat cakes. Dredge each with flour and brown on both sides. Serve with brown gravy.

Crescent Tripe

One and one-half pounds tripe, one-half teaspoon onion juice, two cups minced green pepper and tomato sauce. Cook the tripe in boiling salted water until tender. After draining heat in the tomato sauce with the minced pepper and onion juice. Let cook slowly in a double boiler and serve with a border of rice.

Marshmallow Cake

One cup pastry flour, four tablespoons margarin, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half lemon rind, grated, two-thirds cup milk, one-half cup cornstarch, one cup sugar, one-half tablespoon lemon juice, one-quarter teaspoon salt, three egg whites. Cream the butter and add the sugar and lemon juice. Add the rind, then the milk and dry ingredients sifted together alternately. Have ready the egg whites beaten very stiffly and fold in last of all. Bake in a moderate oven. Spread with marshmallow frosting.

Beef Always Popular

Beef is a popular meat in the average American household. In its various forms it perhaps is served more regularly than any other meat. Here are vegetable accompaniments that are desirable:

Beef steak—Fried onions, French fried potatoes, mushrooms, string beans, creamed carrots.
Roast beef—Mashed, creamed, roast or sweet potatoes; corn, tomatoes, carrots, cabbage, greens.
Pot roast or boiled beef—Cream sauce, tomato sauce, boiled potatoes, stoned tomatoes, cabbage.
Cold Roast Beef—Cream, horseradish sauce, sour jelly, salad with French dressing.
Creamed chopped beef—Corn bread, toast, rice.
Corned beef—Cabbage, greens, parsnips, turnips, potatoes.
Boiled tongue—Boiled rice, carrots and raisin sauce.
Liver—Bacon, greens, fried onions, browned parsnips, buttered beets.

Stuffed Potatoes Popular

This time of year restaurants and hotel menus include stuffed baked potatoes in their list of special dishes. And the way patrons order stuffed baked potatoes is an evidence that this staple article of food is most delicious when stuffed and baked. Here are simple directions for preparing stuffed baked potatoes:

Cut baked potatoes in half, remove the pulp, mash it and enough milk for the usual consistency of mashed potatoes and season with butter, salt and pepper. Fill the potato cases with this mixture, dot the tops with bits of butter or brush with milk. Bake the filled cases for eight or 10 minutes in a hot oven.

Baked stuffed potatoes may be varied by adding different combinations to the mashed mixture before filling the cases, such as grated cheese, chopped parsley or chopped meat or fowl.

GELATINE DESSERTS ARE ATTRACTIVE

Food Rivaling a Rainbow in Color Made Out of Fruit Gelatine.

GELATINES are really very much neglected in the line of desserts, usually because they are carelessly made and hence tasteless and unattractive. They are easily made and may be kept for the better part of a week. For gelatine with fruit take one pint of grape juice, one ounce of gelatine, one cup of sugar, one lemon, one-half cup of powdered sugar. Grate the rind of a lemon and mix it with powdered sugar. Dissolve sugar and gelatine in the grape juice, adding the juice of the lemon. Set to harden. When the jelly begins to thicken pour into a mold. Serve with cream and the prepared sugar.

About as easy a gelatine as any to make is grapefruit. A can of grapefruit will serve four generously. Of course, you keep the canned fruit on your emergency shelf, for it certainly comes in handy for any meal and the sections are in much better shape to use for salad than you could get them out yourself.

Drain the juice from the fruit, sweeten to taste and add the juice of one orange. Add one tablespoonful of gelatine to the juice and bring to a boil. Cool slightly and add the fruit. Pour into molds and set away to harden.

Always save excess juices from preserves to use for flavoring and coloring gelatine. Don't become so interested in making fancy desserts with gelatine that you forget to serve it plain at times, being sure, however, that it is well flavored.

Blatz MILWAUKEE Bohemian MALT SYRUP IS BEST

When purchasing malt syrup, the great name c. "Blatz" protects you; because since 1851, it has been a public guarantee for malt products of unsurpassed quality. This is very important, because the demand for Blatz Bohemian Malt Syrup has resulted in many inferior brands being placed on the market. Blatz Bohemian Malt Syrup is not only made entirely of barley, but of barley which is highest in food and malting value—the No. 1 grade. Other brands may be advertised as all-malt products and yet have little malt value because they are made from little, inferior kernels — the No. 3 grade. Blatz is not a "local malt", made and sold in one town. It is the standard brand all over the United States. It is purer, richer, thicker and better in every way. Our exclusive formula cannot be successfully imitated. No expense is spared to make "Blatz" the best buy. Ask any user.

AND RICE DIET IS VERY SOOTHING

Combined With Butter, Milk or Cream Ordered in Many Illnesses.

A SPECIAL rice diet is frequently prescribed for one who has any irritation of the stomach, or of the stomach as caused by gastritis. Rice feeding is also a great help in diphtheria, in scarlet fever and following operations on throat or tonsils.

Now one reason for this is not to seek. Rice is largely starch, substance that is in its very nature helps to quiet the pain of an irritated mouth or stomach surface. It is a very physical point of view. Rice has more than this to offer. The starch is a rich source of energy and thus the first requirement of any foodstuff is met completely. The intelligent home cook, however, will not be satisfied until she has learned all that a physician should know in regard to the foods she is to give her patient.

Don't be alarmed, for example, should anyone say that the proportion of protein or body building material in rice is low. This is true, but remember that the quality of the protein present, even if it represents only 3 per cent of the whole is of very superior quality. If you are keeping abreast of present day nutrition studies you will remember that this is what counts most when it comes to protein. The demands of the body for this food principle are constant, and illness seldom calls for a lowering in of an extra supply.

INLAIN LINOLEUMS SHOULD BE WAXED

A Daily Dry Mop Dusting Will Keep Waxed Linoleum Spotlessly Clean.

ONE good reason is that waxed linoleum doesn't have to be scrubbed. Just a daily dusting, with a dry mop, keeps a properly waxed linoleum floor spotlessly clean. A little liquid wax removes all spots and restores the soft polish to the walked-on places. Everyone who has tried the waxing method says it is not only the easiest way to care for fine linoleum, but the cheapest. Once or twice a year is often enough to have it done. And in applying the wax, don't be too liberal with it. Just spread a little between the layers of a piece of cheesecloth and rub it in well. Then polish thoroughly.

If the less expensive printed linoleum is kept varnished it looks better and wears longer.

but the demand is for the superior type of protein that tends to completely nourish the tissues, and rice possesses this type. When the physician prescribes a rice diet he will be delighted to find that the home dietitian knows how to prepare it intelligently. One of the first things to remember is that for such a purpose the rice should be cooked so as to break up the separate grains, converting them into a smooth and soothing gruel, very much the consistency of cream. Sometimes only salt is added, until the patient has improved to the point of being able to take care of more generous fare, when unsalted butter is usually the first addition.

Banana Charlotte.
Remove the skin of three ripe bananas, then press through a ricer; add one-third cup of sugar and the juice of half a lemon and stir in a double boiler until scalded; then let chill. Beat one cup of heavy cream until stiff; add the chilled banana mixture and a half teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Line glass sherbet cups or paper cases with narrow strips of sponge cake or lady fingers, and fill with the mixture. Serve very cold.

WANT REORGANIZATION OF SCHOOLS DELAYED
Women at League Meeting Say That Frequent Changes
Have a Bad Effect.

A call upon the Board of Education to withhold approval of the plan of Superintendent Maddox for the reorganization of public school administration until the board itself and the public at large is thoroughly informed upon the need for it was made last night by a meeting called by the League of Women Voters at its headquarters, 3622 Olive street.

Resolution passed reminding the board that frequent reorganizations are an undesirable effect upon the schools as a whole, while the shifting of personnel makes it increasingly difficult for the schools to attract and retain outstanding educators. In this connection, the meeting deplored what was variously referred to as the "sacrifice" the "degradation" and the "humiliation" of three assistant superintendents who, under the plan, are to be removed from office.

The purpose of the resolution was to strengthen the demand of the minority of the board that the reorganization plan be not brought to a vote at next Tuesday's meeting, as was contemplated, but laid over for a month to allow free discussion.

Percival Chubb Speaks.

The chief speakers at the meeting were Percival Chubb, leader of the Ethical Society, and Mrs. George Gellhorn, one of the league's three presidents. Chubb's talk bristled with ironical references to Superintendent Maddox and board members.

He rejoiced, he said, in the courage and independence of Miss Lillie R. Ernst, one of the three assistant superintendents to be demoted. "And therefore I can't help suspecting," he said, "we touch the nerve center. People of independence and courage sometimes are awkward companions; but for high achievement they are indispensable. In education, they are particularly valuable. Every good educator fosters those qualities in children and above all, in teachers."

"But small people shy at them. Have the courage of your convictions and you will earn the opposition of the small. Are we in the presence of any such manifestation by any concerned?"

As to the plan itself, Chubb said, he and the public generally are totally ignorant and he asked for a full, complete statement of it, particularly the reasons for it. "I do know," he said, "that the plan calls for the sacrifice of persons. In education persons are more important than plans. The best plan will fail with weak personnel. The price to be paid for this plan is the emotion—the degradation—of three of the heads of the system. The word 'dismissal' is in bad odor now. The public conscience has been made sensitive by the force at the City Hall. We had a Mussolini there—high-handed gestures. We are suspicious. We press for the facts. I am anxious to see the distinguished minds of the board at work upon this plan."

Some criticism of the new plan of Superintendent Maddox has been offered on the ground that, by it, he desires to further centralize control to himself, through subordinates whom he can more absolutely control.

Question of Efficiency.

Mrs. E. M. Grossman said that Superintendent Maddox brought forward his plan in the name of efficiency, yet when it came to choosing personnel to make it effective, he based his choice, not upon efficiency, but upon period of service. In his report, the superintendent said that Assistant Superintendents Ernst, Shackelford and Rader had been selected for reduction in grade because they had been the most recent appointees to posts as assistant superintendents.

Mrs. Fred J. Taussig added to this: "The superintendent has been in his post a shorter period than any of the three he is about to demote."

Irritation was expressed that the superintendent had not presented his reorganization plan, the most sweeping in many years, until the departure for Europe of Mrs. Elias Michael, a Board of Education member who has opposed many of his policies.

Woman Dies Suddenly at Home.

Mrs. Anna Ostermull, 74 years old, of 1211 Geyer avenue, collapsed yesterday afternoon when trying to persuade a roomer not to send for a physician. Disregarding her protests, he went for a doctor. When he returned with the physician Mrs. Ostermull was dead.

3 PERSONS KILLED, 40 HURT IN WRECK AT DELAIR, N. J.

Engine and Four Cars of Pennsylvania's Atlantic City Express Leave Rails.

By the Associated Press.
DELAIR, N. J., April 9.—Three were dead and 40 of the more than 40 injured, were still in hospitals today as a result of an express train wreck here yesterday. Pennsylvania Railroad officials are continuing investigations as to the cause.

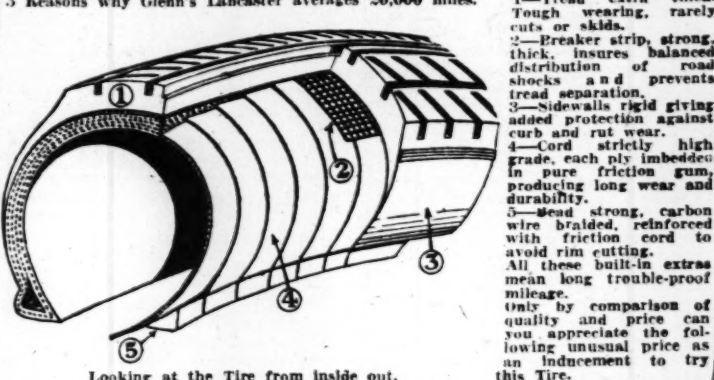

The Atlantic City Express, which left New York at 2:15 p. m. and was three hours late, was rounding a curve at high speed here when the engine and four cars left the rails.

The engineer, John O'Connor, and the fireman, Anthony Rankin, both of Jersey City, died of wounds at a Camden (N. J.) hospital. William Mintz of New York, a passenger, in the first car, was crushed to death when it telescoped. Most of the injured passengers were riding in the forward car.

Man Held Up Was Not Store Owner
In Monday's Post-Dispatch it was erroneously stated that William L. Pincott, who was held up and robbed that day in the Orange Front Auto Supply Co., 4752 Easton avenue, was owner of the store. Albert C. Reid, the owner.

WHAT WEDNESDAY'S RAIN DID TO THE STATE HIGHWAY NEAR COLUMBIA, MO.

—Photographed for the Post-Dispatch by W. T. Hoff, who is touring from Los Angeles to New York.

More than 25 automobiles bound for St. Louis ran into this suddenly formed lake three miles west of Columbia at a spot where the concrete road ends. Occupants of several machines were rescued with difficulty.

DO'S AND DON'TS —For— SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

By NELLIE E. GARDNER

The Sheep-Mind and the Bell.
MUCH has been written about the "sheep-mind." Very little has been said about the bell. Yet in the herd of four-legged beasts that tags behind, there is one ahead that rings the bell.

Men and women, like sheep and cattle, fall into two groups, the followers and the leaders. Two cows that occupy the same pasture for the season very quickly learn their position in relation to each other. And would they ever think of attempting to change the order of march?

Watch them as they leave the pasture, some night, and see how quickly and surely they fall into line. No man knows by what process of reasoning they decided which animal should take the lead. Having once made the decision, however, there is not the slightest chance of a change. When this is attempted—as all good fiction-writers and readers know—it results in war and duel among the herd.

Business people fall in herds. It is not entirely a matter of fate as to who rings the bell. It is mostly up to the brains, decision, and persistence of the individual.

When you are young in business is the time to decide what place you wish to occupy in the financial or commercial world. If you are satisfied to fall behind, use no initiative, or will-power, you will never ring the bell.

But if you possess the desire and the courage to take the lead, and if your decision is quick and your judgment true, soon others will naturally follow.

And when once a habit is formed, what will change the course? Have you ever examined or questioned the elements of leadership?

Quick decision—do you have it? Capacity for the hardest work and for unflinching endurance in an emergency—are these qualities yours?

Faithfulness to the other fellow—so that each of your followers knows he will get a square deal.

Imagination mixed with practical ideas; conservatism tempered by radicalism. Can you honestly claim to be well-balanced in temperament?

How about your courage to take a stand—even though unpopular—and defend it? Indispensable, this, if you are ever going to "ring the bell" for mankind.

Cleaning the Rug.

A rug expert states that "a clean rug will outwear four dirty ones." While a daily sweeping with the broom will make the rug look clean, it requires at least a weekly treatment with the carpet sweeper, or, better still, the vacuum sweeper, to remove the hard grit which gathers in the rug and cuts the pile.

Even with this care, however, it becomes necessary to wash rugs to keep them clean. In case of large rugs this is a difficult and dangerous task for the average housekeeper to handle.

For really satisfactory results it is advisable to have this work done by expert cleaners, but to avoid disappointment be sure and send your rugs to a cleaner who bears an established reputation for good work.

A truly American sentiment recognizes the dignity of labor and the fact that honor lies in honest toil.—Cleveland.

Children's Bedtime Story By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Peeper's Adventures

Big and little, swift and slow,
We all of us adventuring go.
—Peeper the Hyla.

PEEPER the Hyla is a very tiny fellow and little folk are always having adventures. They have more adventures than big folk, because always there are so many big folk looking for little folk. Life for Peeper the Hyla is one adventure after another from the time he awakens in early spring until he goes to bed again in the mud for his long winter sleep. When Mr. and Mrs. Quack arrived at the Smiling Pool, Peeper knew that his adventures would be greatly increased. He knew that either Mr. Quack or Mrs. Quack would be delighted to catch him, and that they would be watching for him. Yet he must sing. He just had to sing. He felt as if he couldn't live if he didn't sing. So, very cautiously he would creep up on a little twig, poke his nose above the water, look all around until he could see Mr. and Mrs. Quack, and then if it were safe, he would fill that little music bag of his with air and begin to sing. He would sing with all his might. But he was always ready to dive and hide at the least sound.

Once as he dived to hide among the dead leaves on the bottom of the Smiling Pool, a long slim form darted after him. It was a pickerel, which you know is a kind of fish; a kind of fish that is very, very fond of little frogs. Peeper went into the mud under those leaves just in time. One little wee second more and that pickerel would have had him.

It was a long time before Peeper dared come out and swim to the surface again. When he could no longer stand the ache in his throat because he so much wanted to sing, he went to the surface again. This time he was left in peace for quite a while. Mr. and Mrs. Quack were on the farther side of the Smiling Pool, so Peeper sang and sang. But he kept his ears wide open all the time. He caught the sound of just the faintest little splash. He didn't wait to see what or who had made it. He disappeared, and he did it so quickly that had you been there looking right at him, you probably would not have seen where he went. Peeper believes in safety first. He says that if you are safe, there is always plenty of time to investigate afterwards. So, often he hides when there is no need of hiding. But he considers it worth the trouble. In this particular case, it was well for Peeper that he disappeared so quickly. It was only a moment later that Mr. Watersnake came along.

Again when he thought it safe, he came up and renewed his song. This time he had hardly begun singing when a long neck with a long spear-like bill shot down at him. It came like a flash, but quick as it was, Peeper was just a wee bit quicker. So it was that Longlegs the Heron just missed him. "My," exclaimed Peeper to himself, "Old Longlegs gets quicker and quicker. I didn't know that he had arrived, but evidently he has, and so he is one more to watch out for. Life certainly is exciting. I don't know what I would do if it were not. It would be very tame. But there is such a thing as too much excitement. It interferes with my singing, and just now I want to sing, I must sing. Yes, sir, I must sing. I can no more help singing than I can help breathing. I have been saying this spring song up for nearly a year and now I just must sing."

And once more, Peeper the Hyla, who you know is a very tiny tree frog, swam to the surface, filled his music bag and was just about to sing when slap, came Jerry Muskrat's tail on the water, which was Jerry's danger signal. Again Peeper waited not at all, but plunged for the bottom. And it was just this way all day and all night. Peeper had so many narrow escapes that he didn't even try to count them.

FLORIDA FRUIT YIELD MINIMIZES SLUMP IN REALTY

Stakes Coming Out of Citrus Groves Along Ridge and End of Boom Is Accepted as a Fact.

By ERNEST K. LINDLEY,
A Special Correspondent of the
New York World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

LAKE LAND, Fla., April 9.—The stakes are coming out of the citrus groves along the Ridge. The peeling of plaster from pillars marking the entrances to grand boulevards cut through the orange trees is unheeded. Wayside real estate offices are closed. Here and there appear bright new signs. "This entire subdivision for sale."

Some of the men of vision who divided into lots nearly all the land along the 100 miles of road from Lake Stearns to Lakeland, through the uplands of South Central Florida, are willing to let their holdings revert to the homely but profitable task of producing oranges and grapefruit.

It is an accepted fact along the Ridge as elsewhere in the State that the boom is over. That was felt to be true as long ago as last November. It has been as sluggish a winter for real estate as reputed only by financial assistance from the North.

Search for Ready Cash.
Everyone is in frantic quest of ready cash to meet payments. During the next three months second installments on the purchases of vast amounts of residential property in new subdivisions along the Ridge will fall due. In some instances developers are arranging to permit the dates for these payments to be extended until fall, but other developers are not in a position to do this. Yet many buyers, if they cannot secure extensions, will have to relinquish portions of their holdings.

The shrewd buyer of real estate
who is able to pay cash can name virtually his own price. Mortgages on high-class property can be bought at discounts ranging up to 20 per cent.

Like the rest of Florida, the Ridge is experiencing a period of readjustment. Yet along this sweet-scented, rolling citrus land, flamed by lower truck land, there is less apprehension regarding what the year may have in store than is apparent along the lower East Coast. There is a solidity about this region coming from its productive land.

Although in the Ridge country
as a whole, sales of residential sites in the scores of new subdivisions along the lakes, have come almost to a standstill, acreage is moving at substantial prices. And why not? The citrus crop of the State promises to be a quarter short this year, not more than 15-20,000,000 boxes compared with 19-20,000,000 last year, and speculators are offering $2.25 a box for oranges on the trees.

$3500 an Acre for Groves.
Mature groves sold at as high as $3500 an acre, will pay 25 per cent
this year. Groves less well situated with relation to roads and to productive water are changing hands at from $1500 to $2000 an acre.

Raw citrus acreage is selling at $150 to $200. As the nurseries are overstocked, the cost of young trees is half of what it was two years ago.

Groves sold to promoters of subdivisions six months ago are going back into the hands of citrus men.
Near Sebring, in Highlands County, two deals of this class, each of more than $100,000, were made during the second week in March.
Fortunately in many of the projected subdivisions along the Ridge only enough trees were removed to permit the introduction of streets.

Small tracts of truck land to the west of the ridge, around Wauchula,
Fort Meade, Bartow and Plant City, are being sold steadily at from $400 to $1500 an acre. Subdivisions may rise and fall, but until the Florida climate changes three or four crops annually can be taken from the soil.

A Pioneer State.
Driving from Palm Beach across the State to Tampa, one is impressed with the fact that Florida is still a pioneer state. The road to Okeechobee, built during the last two years by W. J. Connors of Buffalo, N. Y., at a cost of $2-900,000, runs through a well-nigh unpopulated area, much of which has agricultural possibilities.

Within a year Okeechobee, just north of the large Lake Okeechobee, has changed from a fishing village into an ambitious commercial center of almost 5000 people, with aspirations to become a winter resort. Connors bought Oke-chobee and environs almost en-bloc and sold it in lots last year for approximately $5,000,000. He retains some 15 miles of lake front, which he is beginning to develop.

Open sores on leg for more than year

Resin healed in few weeks

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 24:—"I have been troubled with running sores on my leg for a year or more and all the medical attention and treatments I tried did no good. One day I saw an advertisement for Resin Ointment in the newspaper and I bought a jar of it. In less than three weeks my sores healed up and have been well ever since. As my wife has been sick for nearly a year and had bed sores we induced her to try this ointment and the sores are healing splendidly. I have bought several jars of it and believe me it will always be on the shelf in my bath room." (Signed) Alfred E. Banz, 3014 Monroe St.

STORY OF A MAN WHO 'CAN'T' FORGET

Henry Goldschmidt Knows the Name and Addresses on Ten Milk Routes.

This is for men who carry the letters their wives give them to mail until the envelopes are frayed; for those who call "information," obtain their number, and after chiding the operator for being connected with the wrong party, give her seeming vindication by inability to recall the correct number; for those who cannot remember anniversary dates despite their evident importance, or birthdays, or names or addresses. Perhaps the example of Henry Goldschmidt will afford inspiration to those who "forget to remember."

Goldschmidt is an expert milk wagon driver. His tenacious memory has taken him to the top of his vocation. Where other milk drivers have one route of 300 names each, Goldschmidt has 10 routes. He is employed by a large dairy concern here to take the place of one of 10 drivers every day, permitting the man he displaces to rest. He has also been used as an emergency driver on 246 different routes.

"Most successful men couldn't be milk wagon drivers," Goldschmidt said today. "I know by heart 3000 names and addresses, know just whether to leave one quart or two quarts and all without consulting a record."

"If I hear a name once, or an address once, I can't forget it. I have served apartments with 300 people in them. I can go back tomorrow to such a place although I may not have been there for a year and give each of the 300 the correct order whether it be cheese, butter or milk, and call each one of their names. It is no special credit to me. I just can't forget."

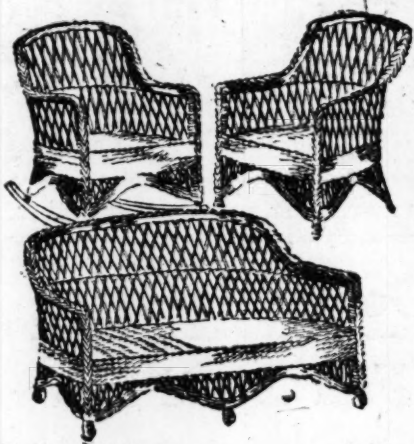

Goldschmidt, who is 33 years old and resides at 1517 Hamilton avenue, works in the afternoon during the baseball season at Sportman's Park as head usher. "People come up to me," he said, "saying, 'I want to sit in the best seat in the park.' I tell them, 'Well, seat 3, row 2, in box 110, right behind third base is very good' or 'seat 10, row 2, section 7 is good if you like the play around second base.' You see, I know the number and location of every seat in the park. Not because I'm so good, but just because I can't forget."

Banana Boom Has Collapsed.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 8.—The banana boom brought about in London by the popularity of "yes, we have no bananas," has collapsed, and banana dealers are seeking a new slogan with the hope of reviving trade. When the song was at the height of its vogue the banana business did very well, but the trade has been slipping of late and has almost reached the doldrum stage.

BAVARIANS ENTER PROTEST AGAINST NEW BEER TAX

But Commissioner Says Added Revenues Are Necessary for Reparations Payments.
 Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright 1926.
 BERLIN, April 9.—When Finance Minister Reinhold attempted to increase by one-third the already fairly heavy taxes on the production of beer he encountered bitter opposition from Bavaria. Bavarians protested so strongly, indeed, that the Government decided to postpone the application of the new tax until the beginning of 1927.

But in making that decision Chancellor Luther and Minister Reinhold met the opposition of Sir Andrew McFadyen, Commissioner of controlled revenues in Berlin. It is his job to see that during the present year the German Government revenues bring to the reparations fund 250,000,000 marks ($250,000,000), and unless the tax on beer is increased, Sir Andrew fears that this sum will not be collected.

About a week ago, before leaving Berlin for a holiday, Sir Andrew expressed to Luther and Reinhold his fears and his intention of using his right of protest under the reparations plan. A protest, however, is a thing the German Government wishes to avoid, because it might convey the impression that Germany is seeking to avoid reparations payments. This is not the case and, therefore, the German Government and McFadyen have reached a compromise. The beer tax feared by the Bavarians will not be applied before June 30.

Meanwhile, according to the reparations plan, the entire question of the authority of the agent for controlled revenues will be brought before a special arbitration Judge, who was a neutral in the World War and who will be appointed by the president of The Hague Court. This is only the first of similar difficulties which are sure to arise in applying the reparations plan. The greatest spirit of conciliation is evident on both sides.

BETTY BALDWIN IN POLITICS

Aids English Conservatives by Work in Social Organizations.
 By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 9.—Miss Betty Baldwin, debutante daughter of the British statesman, is almost as attractive politically as her brother, Oliver, who is decidedly socialistic and shocks Conservatives by his speeches. Miss Baldwin's political efforts are largely confined to advancing the Conservative party through social organizations. She is an active worker in the Young Conservatives Union, and at present is engaged in organizing a ball which the union will give at Claridge's Hotel. The purpose of the ball is to bring the younger members of the party into more intimate association with young folks who lead less prosperous lives, that there may be a better understanding of the needs and desires of young people of limited means.

Deep Sea Water Contains Right Kind of Iodine for Inland People

In Correct Proportions—In Its Natural Form For Goitre and Thyroid Troubles. Easily and Quickly Absorbed Into the System.

Mighty good news that scientists are broadcasting these days; especially to people who live inland where goitre is most prevalent. Physicians now agree that goitre is due to a lack of iodine in the system and particularly in the gland in front of the neck called the thyroid gland. Iodine comes from the Ocean.

Take a quart of sea water and have a good chemist analyze it and he will find a trace of iodine—all that is needed to act with great benefit on the thyroid gland, the gland of goitre. If he is a real chemist he won't have to analyze it—he already knows the iodine is there.

He also knows that there is a trace of iodine in the system of every healthy person, but that that trace is important to health. To stop the growth of goitre and thyroid disturbance the health authorities in Rochester, N. Y., put iodine into the waters of the reservoir at regular intervals. And how much iodine do you suppose these wise scientific men put into the big reservoir that must supply drinking water to about three hundred thousand people?

About ten gallons a year—which goes to prove that iodine is an all powerful medicinal agent, and only a slight trace is needed to do a great deal of good. But here's better news for people who have goitre or any thyroid trouble and to all inland people whose system is deficient in iodine and other natural revitalizing elements. Ocean-O—deep sea

OCEAN-O According to the analysis made by Samuel P. Sadler & Son, Inc., analytical chemists, contains: Silica, Chlorine, Calcium Oxide, Magnesium Oxide, Sodium Oxide, Potassium Oxide, Sodium Carbonate, Sodium Bicarbonate, Manganese, Bromine and IODINE.

BETSY ROSS PETTICOAT STORY CALLED A MYTH

Francis Hopkinson Designed Stars and Stripes, Says Professor at Arkansas U.

By the Associated Press. FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., April 9. —The immortal petticoat of Betsy Ross is due for the limbo of historical myths, if Dr. George E. Hastings, associate professor of English at the University of Arkansas, has his way. Dr. Hastings, in his book, "The Life and Works of Francis Hopkinson," sings a requiem for Mrs. Ross' famous petticoat, which tradition says was used to make the stripes for the first American flag. The book, which is to be published this spring by the University of Chicago Press, credits Hopkinson with having designed the Stars and Stripes.

Tradition has it that Betsy Ross was asked to make the first American flag for Gen. Washington. Dr. Hastings declares that he can trace this tradition back no farther than 1870, when a grandson of Mrs. Ross announced that it was his grandmother who had done the designing of the flag, he having heard his forbears make that statement.

Finds Bill for Designing. In going through the papers of the Continental Congress in the Congressional Library at Washington, Dr. Hastings says he found Hopkinson's bill for designing the flag, which was adopted by the Continental Congress in 1777. Hopkinson had suggested, humorously, that a quarter of a cask of public wine would be a suitable reward. As he had designed the seal for the Department of Admiralty and that for a number of other governmental departments, Hopkinson, in 1780, was asked to submit an itemized statement of all his charges. This statement, including that for designing the flag, is on file in the Congressional Library and amounts to 2700 pounds sterling. In addition to designing the first flag, the author says, Hopkinson had the distinction of being the author of the first book of music ever published in America. The book was a compilation entitled "Seven Songs."

Hopkinson's Achievements. Although Hopkinson died in 1791 at the age of 54, his achievements were many. A painter, poet, essayist, inventor and lawyer, he was a close friend of Washington, Jefferson and Franklin and like the first two, was a signer of the Declaration of Independence and a member of the Second Continental Congress. Side lights of these illustrious figures in early American history are brought out in correspondence contained in the book. Besides serving in the Continental Congress, Hopkinson had charge of the administration of the navy. He also designed seals for the American Philosophical Society, the State of New Jersey and the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Hastings became interested in Hopkinson while a graduate student at Harvard and made him the subject of his doctoral thesis. Since that time he has continued the study over a period of eight years, delving into Revolutionary War records of a score of the larger public libraries on the Atlantic seaboard.

water distilled—purified—filtered and condensed—with the excess common salt removed, can now be obtained at Walgreen Drug Stores or any druggist anywhere.

It is so concentrated (by special machinery that costars only one hundred thousand dollars to build and install) that one teaspoonful in a glass of water is one dose, so you can readily see that a 10-ounce bottle lasts a long time.

In Ocean-O, people who are humiliated by goitre will find just the right form of iodine and the right proportion of natural iodine to give them the help they have been yearning for.

Scientists and highly educated physicians will tell you that deep sea water has in it every vital mineral element that is found in pure healthy blood and that is why Ocean-O revitalizes impoverished blood—it balances the blood mineral or in other words it supplies to the blood just the vital natural mineral elements that are lacking.

When you take Ocean-O, you feed your unbalanced blood just the food elements it needs, and it goes carrying thru your veins, gland, nerve and fiber just the vital mineral alkaline substance needed to bring vigor, strength, energy and that feeling of well-being to the entire body. It is the best water treatment—nothing but deep sea water distilled and concentrated—and it is better than a host of people use counting on the fact that they are strong and healthy as they should be. Walgreen Drug Stores sell dozens of bottles of Ocean-O, so do druggists all over America and with the best understanding that if you are not satisfied with the help it gives you are welcome to your money back. It is easy to take and no after taste.

SOVIET TO CONVERT RUSSIA'S PANTHEON INTO A MUSEUM

By the Associated Press.
LENGRAD, April 9.—The Soviet authorities have decided to convert the famous cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, Russia's pantheon, into a historical museum. All of Russia's sovereigns since the foundation of St. Petersburg in 1701, except Peter II, who was buried at Moscow, and the ill-fated Nicholas II, are buried in this cathedral, which forms part of the fortress of the same name.

Indian Raiders of 1780 Scurried Over Site of New K. of P. Building

Northwest Corner of Grand and Delmar Originally Property of Auguste Conde in Grand Prairie—Its History.

The lot on the northwest corner of Grand and Delmar is at present covered with a mass of bricks and lumber. By next year it will be the site of the Temple of the Knights of Pythias. It does not particularly suggest a history of Indian raids, frontier disputes, and life under three flags, but it has such a history.

The land the French occupied when they drove away the Indians in 1764 was apportioned into the Town and the Prairie, or Common Fields. That slice of the Grand Prairie that is now Grand and Delmar was taken up in 1768 by Auguste Conde, the first physician to practice in St. Louis. The French enclosed their holdings with a barrier of wooden fences, and the easternmost fence of the Grand Prairie bordered Conde's farm.

In 1774 Conde died, leaving his lands to his eldest daughter, Marie. Those were the days of the tar-queue and of Spanish rule; the days of the menace of flood and of cholera, stealing up over the banks of the Mississippi. There was news that the English colonies on the Atlantic coast had rebelled.

In 1783, Conde's lands were the subject of litigation in the Provincial Court; the title was disputed by two of the Conde women, who had married into the families of the sanguinaries and of the Chouteaus.

The evidence in the case seemed inconclusive when one of Conde's neighbors mentioned always by the French Records of Deeds, "Faustin, known also as the Old Boy," appeared in court to testify to facts which, though not recorded, did decide the case in favor of the heirs of Marie Conde.

Era of Powdered Wig. The powdered wig was more popular than the tar-queue; some families that had emigrated from France after the unpleasantness of 1789 found homes in the Territory of Louisiana; the proud Spanish flag was hauled down, and in the year following Conde's suit, the Territory was purchased from France by the Government that revolted English colonies had set up.

Three times thereafter, there appeared in various courts, to save the lands to the heirs of Marie Conde, "Faustin, known also as the Old Boy," of whom nothing further seems to be recorded. In the early 1800s, he drops out of the tale. The mourners, if it is fair to presume that he was mourned, took him from his lands near the Grand Road, which followed the line once marked by the easternmost fence of the Grand Prairie, and laid him into earth that was now the ultimate property of a State that had twice beaten England, that had pushed the Indian tribes continuously westward, that had trashed the Tripoli pirates once and for all, and had even frightened France out of war. At least that is what the St. Louisans said, in English now, for the most part, and in voices that bore the brogue of Ireland and the brogue of the South German prelates.

The big estate was split up in the quarter century that followed. Grand Road, later Grand avenue, began to bear more and more traffic, and rents rose and rose. Under the apple trees of the orchard that occupied the site, little boys in the '40s played settler-and-Indian; in the '50s, miners-and-horse thieves; in the '60s, yank-and-Johnnie.

Orchard Felled in 1880. The orchard was cut down, and about 1880 Capt. Hugh L. White, a river navigator, erected in its stead two mansions. The one to the east he occupied with his family; the western one, 3605 Delmar, he rented to various unmemorable tenants.

In 1925 the buildings were boarded houses; rents were still rising. Grand avenue was Grand boulevard. Capt. White's grandson sold the site.

The two houses are wrecked now, and the debris about to be cleared away. The land will rest free from the burden of brick for the brief while the Pythian construction company begins work. Then, next year, there will rise a 15-story structure, to cost a million dollars.

Presbyterian Papers Merged. CHICAGO, April 9.—Merger of two of the leading Presbyterian papers, the Continent, published in Chicago, and the Advance, published at Nashville, Tenn., is announced. After April 22 the Advance will take over the subscription list of the Continent and will continue publication as the Advance at Nashville. The Continent was established 55 years ago by Cyrus H. McCormick, founder of the International Harvester Co.

AUSTRIA TAXES BOBBED HEADS

INNBRUCK, Austria, April 9.—The advocates of bobbed hair have been defeated in a conflict between the mayors of the North Tyrol communes and the hairdressers. The Mayors decided to impose a tax on any woman having her hair short and against this the hairdressers protested vehemently.

To this protest the Mayors replied that the Bible contained a definite ruling on the subject in the first Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians (chapter 2, verse 15), in which it stated: "If a woman have long hair it is a glory to her, for her hair is given her for a covering." The hairdressers now have abandoned their opposition.

PADLOCK REDWOOD TREE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—For harboring an illicit liquor still, a redwood tree in the far reaches of Humboldt County, Northern California, has been padlocked.

Prohibition agents discovered the tree six miles from Eureka. It is a redwood 24 feet in diameter. A hollow chamber in its base concealed a 50-gallon still, running at full blast. Kerosene was used as fuel, and the slight smoke disappeared through a flue amid the foliage. Entrance to the chamber was concealed by a canvas painted to resemble the bark of the tree. The "padlock" is a notice on the side of the tree warning all that the tree is in the hands of the law.

Don't Let High Blood Pressure Shorten Your Life

How to Stop It—Read This.

It may surprise you to know high blood pressure is so serious that insurance companies refuse to issue policies to those who have it. All because it shortens life.

High blood pressure gives little warning and until certain symptoms take hold, you do not know it. They are head pains, flushed face, hot flashes, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness.

REDWOOD TREE
SAN FRANCISCO, April 8.—For harboring an illicit liquor still, a redwood tree in the far reaches of Humboldt County, Northern California, has been padlocked.
Prohibition agents discovered
the tree six miles from Eureka.
It is a redwood 24 feet in diameter.
A hollow chamber in its base contains a 50-gallon still, running at full blast. Kerosene was used as fuel, and the slight smoke disappeared through a flue amid the foliage. Entrance to the chamber was concealed by a canvas painted to resemble the bark of the tree.
The "padlock" is a notice on the side of the tree warning all that the tree is in the hands of the law.

Sciatic Neuritis
The sciatic nerve, situated at the

the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pain which shoots down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and

The disease is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain.
The quickest, safest and surest way to rid of the persistent nerve racking pain of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Albion Special Formula No. 2, which removes the cause of the disease, and notice how in about 24 hours
the pain has considerably reduced. If not entirely relieved, all pain and soreness disappears until the Neuritis has entirely disappeared and you are able to work and

SCULPTOR TO MAKE
HOME IN ST. LOUIS

Heinz Warnecke, Forecasting Field Here, to Go Abroad
to Wind Up Affairs.

Belief in a fertile field for artists in St. Louis has actuated Heinz Warnecke, German sculptor, who has been "prospecting" here for three years, in deciding to move his studio permanently from Berlin to St. Louis. He will sail May 6 to wind up his affairs in Europe.
Warnecke won the prize for the best work of art in the last annual competition of the Artists' Guild, having won the sculpture prize this year before. His work was featured in a recent issue of "The International Studio," under title of "The Simple Genius of Heinz Warnecke," and has been uniformly commended in critical articles in the Post-Dispatch.

Met Many Discouragements.
"Everyone told me it couldn't be done," Warnecke recalled yesterday. "Everyone said that although St. Louis had produced many artists of substantial reputation, few had been able to remain here. They said that St. Louis simply didn't care for art, and pointed to newspaper interviews of artists or writers who, returning for a visit declared that even the weather here was inimical to creative
work."

Art instruction in the schools and increasing public contacts with good art in the museum, the Public Library and private or organization exhibits are the foundation of the faith in the artistic future of St. Louis. It may be recalled that for parallel reasons Frederick Schirmer, German composer who died here recently, planned to make his home here after completing his engagement with "The Miracle," of which he was musical director and composer of part of the score.

Opportunities Developing.
"I believe there will be a very good field here within a few years," Warnecke said. "St. Louisans of wealth already are realizing that they do not need to go to Paris for their works of fine art, but may find them at home. Of course, so far one has a hard fight to get his material here, but we'll get over that."

"Just in a few months we've had exhibitions at the City Art Museum of Spanish art, Russian art—art from all over the world—and even at the Public Library, Westmoreland child art. Children in the public schools are placed in daily contact with the genuine in art, and make frequent trips, with teachers or parents, to the museum, the library or other exhibitions."

"Watching these people at exhibitions, I've observed an awakening interest in giving the younger generations a new start, a new education in art. The municipal group and other public buildings planned or already going up will in themselves be an esthetic stimulus. The St. Louisian of tomorrow will lead a richer life than his parents, and the St. Louis of tomorrow will be a center for all the arts."

Warnecke will take advantage of the trip to study costumes, "types" and the work of old masters and living artists in Spain, France, Germany and Italy, returning in October.

VANDERBILT U. DINNER HERE
Meeting Tonight Will Open $4,000-000 Campaign.

Nashville, Tenn., in St. Louis, in common with alumni in various other cities, will observe the opening of their alma mater's $4,000-000 campaign for development of its College of Arts and Sciences, with a dinner tonight. The St.
Louis gathering will be at the University Club at 7 p. m. Frank
C. Rand, president of the International Shoe Co., who is national chairman of the campaign, will deliver an address. He gave $100-000 to the fund recently.

COAL MINE TO BE REOPENED
Williamson County Shaft Employs 300 Men.

MARION, Ill., April 9.—The Cosgrove-Meehan Coal Co. has announced that it will open France
No. 3 mine at Paulton, near here, immediately. This Williamson County mine employs more than 300 men.

The company's No. 2 mine at Stitz will continue in operation.

Bad Roads Cause Fuel Famine.
GALESBURG, Ill., April 9.—Bad roads, which prevent hauling of coal, have resulted in a fuel famine in several Knox County towns. At Maquon, where the bank, church and many families were out of coal, the situation was relieved temporarily when a few tons were shipped in. It was rationed out to eager householders. Suffering has been prevented by the neighborly spirit of the town residents, those having a coal supply dividing with their less fortunate neighbors.

Burglars Dig Through Wall for 50 Cents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch:
POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., April 9.— Burglars who failed to break into the Mathis Macom store here yesterday, because of a shuttered window, dug a hole through a 14-inch brick wall and got in. They were poorly paid, however, as they found only 50 cents in the cash register.
Nothing else was missed except a key ring.

WILHELM'S YACHTS IN FLORIDA PORTS

180-Foot Nohab Is in Service to Bahamas—Half Moon Serves as Night Club.

By the Associated Press. MIAMI, Fla., April 9.—Yacht der Linden is a far cry from Flagler street, but Berlin and Miami nevertheless share a peculiar distinction, one which serves vividly to recall the one-time pomp and glory of former Kaiser Wilhelm.

By a strange twist of circumstance, two yachts which in past years flew the royal insignia of the "Woodchopper of Doorn" now list Miami as their home port.

The German ensigns, with their black eagles and iron crosses, have long since been torn down to make way for the Stars and Stripes of the one and a Central American republic flag on the other.

Its future unheralded, its past unsung, the yacht Nohab was the first of the pair to glide into the waters of Bay Biscayne. In reaching Miami, the craft perhaps may be said to have achieved its part in the Kaiser's ambition—a place in the sun—for the vessel, passed from the ranks of pleasure boats to establish another passenger service between this port and Nassau, Bahamas.

Flag of Panama.

The Nohab flies the flag of the Republic of Panama, and incidentally bears the honor of being the first ship to flutter that bunting in this roadstead.

She formerly was the property of the Kaiserin, but was used principally by the Emperor himself for extensive cruises through European waterways and the Mediterranean. She then bore the more Teutonic name of Lensenham, and subsequently was sold to the Grand Duke of Oldenburg, but when the royal families made a hasty exit from the Fatherland, Hugo Stinnes obtained possession of the vessel, and he in turn sold it to its present American owners.

The Nohab is one of the most luxurious craft afloat. She is 180 feet long and is equipped with 39 staterooms.

Another as Night Club. Another maritime heliopolis of the Kaiser's household is the Half Moon, which rocks even yet with the nocturnal revelries of its guests. The Half Moon, nee Germania, was presented to the Prussian sovereign in the heyday of his glory as a birthday gift from Frau Bertha Krupp, the "Big Bertha" of German's extensive munitions activities.

The interior has been renovated.

ed, but the pretentious silver bath tub, installed for royal use, and the original lighting fixtures of cutglass, mounted in silver, remain. And the visitor may finger the teacups over which the Napoleon of the age dreamed his dream of world-empire.

INSCRIPTIONS ON OLD STONES
Believed to Record Ancient's Ideas of Death.

By the Associated Press. BERKELEY, Cal., April 9.—Religious beliefs regarding life beyond the grave, held by Egyptians more than 3000 years before the birth of Christ, may be revealed in inscriptions on stones just discovered in the University of California Museum.

Two stones on which inscriptions were carved served as the jamb and lintel of the tomb of Sennetum, which was explored by archeologists about the time the Civil War ended. Sennetum probably was an officer of the ancient King of Egypt and served as a guardian of the Valley of the Kings, where the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen was invaded by scientists. He may have been the founder of a hereditary line of keepers whose duty it was to guard the tombs from the depredations of grave robbers, a form of outlawry that is as old as mankind itself, says Dr. H. F. Lutz, professor of Egyptology. He expects to make known a translation of the inscription soon.

ARTIFICIAL WEATHER
USED IN CROP TESTS

Research Workers Create Atmosphere at Will in Study of Plant Diseases and Growth.

By The Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis., April 9.—Weather is being made to order by research workers at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture to aid the farmers of the State to obtain increased yields and better quality crops.

Recognizing that weather influences the distribution, development and severity of plant diseases, weather was made to order in greenhouses to permit the study of the growth and behavior of crop plants under controlled weather conditions, says James G. Dickson, assistant professor of plant pathology, in a bulletin issued today.

The result has been changed practices, modified methods of disease control, and new high yielding, disease-resistant strains of the principal farm crops which are capable of producing good yields under unfavorable weather. Investigations have been carried on co-operatively by the Wisconsin Agricultural experiment station and the office of cereal investigation, bureau of plant industry of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Experiments are being conducted with corn, wheat and oats, the principal cereal crops grown in Wisconsin, and apple and cherry trees. Describing the process by which weather is made to order in the greenhouse, Prof. Dickson says:

"The soil temperature experiments are conducted largely in the Wisconsin soil temperature tanks—large insulated wooden boxes with a water tight galvanized iron lining. These tanks are filled with water and the soil containers are suspended in these water baths. The temperature of the water is maintained by running in cold water to lower the temperature slightly below the desired one, then heating the water to the temperature desired with thermostated heaters. Equipment also has been devised to duplicate the conditions in the field, with high soil temperatures during the day and low at night. Air temperatures and air moisture are controlled in large glass chambers.

With this equipment the research workers have reproduced the weather conditions existing in Northern and Southern Wisconsin, Southern Illinois, and the extreme Southern United States, side by side. Prof. Dickson declared: "The grower long has felt that weather is largely responsible for the rusts, mildew and scab which reduce the yields and lower the quality of small grain," Prof. Dickson said.

"The parasite (the germ) must be present to initiate the trouble," Prof. Dickson continued, "but the subsequent ravages of the disease are largely determined by the environmental conditions, largely weather under which crop and parasite are growing. The successful farmer therefore has become a practical student of weather and crops."

"He sows oats in a cold wet soil at the earliest possible date in the spring to control smut and seedling blight and obtain high yields."

"He plants field selected well cured corn, in a warm soil on clover or alfalfa land to prevent seedling blight and insuring a good stand."

"He sows wheat in a cold soil at the earliest possible date in the spring and the latest safe date in the fall to prevent seedling blight and insure high yields. He sows pedigreed, disease-free barley after the danger of wet soils has passed to prevent barley stripe."

WORLD RADIO LANGUAGE, PROBLEM OF ELECTRICIANS
International Commission to Consider Plan at Convention April 12.

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 9.—A world language of electricity, which will enable radio fans the world over to discuss their hobby in common terms is one of the problems to be worked out at the 10-day convention of the International Electro-technical Commission beginning here April 12.

National committees in the various countries which were sent delegates to the convention have been developing studies in the field and will report to the commission. "Radio expansion," said Dr. Clayton Halsey Sharp, president of the United States Committee of the commission, "has increased the demand for common terms and symbols. Electricity is becoming a powerful instrument of concord among all peoples, and apart from all scientific consideration, it is important to commerce that there be standardization of terms in the electro-technical field so that people in different lands can know what they are talking about."

The new international tongue may in part consist of symbols. Delegates from Great Britain, France, Germany, Norway, Russia, Poland, Spain, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland will attend the meeting.

382 DIVORCE SUITS IN ONE COURT FOR APRIL-MAY TERM

Greatest Number of Bills Ever Assigned to Single Division in St. Louis Are on File.

Another note has been added to the scale for those who sing of the growing "divorce evil." The greatest number of divorce cases ever assigned to one division of the Court of Domestic Relations for a two-month term is docketed in Division No. 16, presided over by Circuit Judge Claude O. Pearcy. Three hundred and eighty-two petitions for divorce have been assigned to that court for trial during April and May. Add to this a conservative estimate of the additional cases that will be put on the docket for trial during the term, and the total number of divorce petitions will amount at least to 450 for this single division. Judge Pearcy has listened to nearly 5000 tales of marital difficulties for more than 15 months. He believes the increase in divorces can largely be attributed to a state of mind. That, he says, is the fact that the home has become a secondary consideration in married life. The home has become a life that may enter into life.

"Used to be permanent." "In other days," said Judge Pearcy, "marriage constituted a settled, final arrangement. Regardless of what might happen, a man and woman, once married, without any doubt in their minds that it was a permanent step. There was a stigma attached to divorce which certainly does not exist now."

"People with children, until a few years ago, considered divorce practically out of the question. Today, all that is changed by public opinion. Husband and wife, living a cat-and-dog existence, feel it unnecessary to continue so, merely as the lesser of two evils. "I have found that children do not deter divorce as much as previously. With the public holding criticism, there is less reason to consider them. But, without children, I believe, constitute the greatest check on divorce. Children, and the home. Few couples who have jointly concentrated their efforts in the creation of a home are spending their spare time to find grounds for divorce. 90 Per Cent of Divorces Avoidable."

"It is my opinion that nine-tenths of the divorces obtained in my court could be avoided by a change in the state of mind of either the husband or wife, or both. When married persons felt that they had to get along, they were usually able in the end with no more difficulty than the average pair."

"It is not always easy to decide whether a divorce should be awarded or denied. In cases where it seems that all parties concerned will be benefited, or at least not harmed, by a severance of marriage ties, I usually grant a divorce. There is small use in compelling two persons to live together when they are in constant misery. Often it is better for the children that they separate."

"I have noted sad instances where either the husband or wife had outgrown the other. That is, when they were married they were about on a par financially, socially and intellectually. But the husband, say, reaches a higher plane in one or all three, 10 years after the marriage. He becomes dissatisfied with the wife who so well suited him in the beginning. She has not kept step with his progress. One Outgrows the Other."

"The most natural thing in the world is for him to turn to the divorce court. He would not have married his wife if he were in his present state. Probably she would not have married him. And yet, on these grounds alone, and when the evidence tends to show that these are the real grounds, I cannot conscientiously grant the husband, or the wife, as it sometimes is, a divorce."

Mrs. Bernadine Cooper, an attorney, supervisor of the investigation department of the Court of Domestic Relations, is the head of a corps attached to the divorce courts, whose duty it is to examine conditions in homes where divorces are sought, whenever children are involved. She is of the opinion that hasty and ill-considered marriages are the chief reasons for crowded divorce courts.

"We find that many young persons marry just to be marrying," Mrs. Cooper said. "They give no thought to the responsibilities of married life and when they arrive, it constitutes a disillusionment. Every unexpected trouble magnifies itself, even though a moment's thought before marriage would have shown these troubles to be inevitable. When they come, one or the other party to the marriage is ready to give up the ship."

fore the economic change. She can earn her own living, and will, if she feels she is justified in getting a divorce."

It is too early in the year to estimate the total number of divorces to be filed in 1926, but if this, the April term, may be taken as indicative, the number may run into astounding figures. The April term is considered "light" in point of numbers. The October term extends over a period of four months, and records show that the number of divorces asked during this term are usually about double of those in the April session.

The trial docket in Division No. 16, over which Circuit Judge Hartmann presides, numbers for this April term, 131 cases. The total, before the two months have passed, in all probability will reach at least 150. In two months' time there will appear in one or the other divisions of the Court of Domestic Relations at least 650 couples to pray for release from the tie that binds too tightly.

THREE MONUMENTS ON TRAILS OF NORTHWEST

Expedition to Leave St. Paul in July to Dedicate Memorials to Pathfinders.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 9.—
Three monuments are to be dedicated in July by the Columbia River Historical Expedition that will revive the names of many dauntless pathfinding explorers, men and women, who were the first to penetrate the Pacific Northwest.

This expedition will start from St. Paul in a special Great Northern railway train and the party will include leading historians and heads of many State historical societies of the United States.
A feature of the expedition will be the presence of a large group of high school students from many cities throughout the United States
—each having been a winner in the oratorical contest arranged by the Franco-American Good Will Association of New York. A group of young students from the preparatory schools of France (French children) also prize winners, will join the expedition to learn something first hand about the growing Northwest.
Resembles Vendome Column.
At Astoria will be dedicated a unique column 125 feet high. Spiraling upwards on it is a ribbon-like frieze upon which is carved a continuous series of pictures depicting events of Captain Robert Gray's discovery of the Columbia; Lewis and Clark's Expedition and the building and life of John Jacob Astor's Fort Astoria.
This monument resembles somewhat in general character the Ven-dome Column in Paris and will be the only one of its kind in the United States.

At Wishram, Wash., the expedition will dedicate a monument constructed of blocks of basalt taken from the cliffs that line the Columbia River. It carries the following inscription: "To the memory of those dauntless pathfinders and pioneers who followed the great thoroughfare of the Columbia at this place, among whom were Meriwether Lewis, Jason and Daniel Lee, William Clark, Cyrus Shepard, David Thompson,
Thomas Nuttall, David Stuart,
John K. Townsend, Alexander
Ross, Samuel Parker, Donald Mac-Kenzie, Father De Smet, Robert
McLellan, Marcus and Narciso
Whitman, John Reed, Wilson
Price Hunt, Henry H. and Eliza
Spalding, Ramsay Crooks, Gabriel
Franchere, William H. Gray, Ross
Cox, Francis N. Blanchet, Robert Stuart, Modeste Demers, Alexander Henry, Robert Newell, Peter Skene Ogden, Joseph L. Meek, John McLoughlin, Elijah White, George Simpson, Jesse Applegate, Jedediah S. Smith, Peter H.
Burnett, David Douglas, James W.
Newcomb, Nathaniel Wyeth, John
C. Fremont."

Six States Sponsors.
At Bonners Ferry, Idaho, another monument will be dedicated.
This one is constructed of Kootenai River sandstone. The inscription is as follows:
On the front:

1808 1926
To commemorate the first route of travel and trade across what is now the State of Idaho.
David Thompson
James McMillan
Sir George Simpson
Peter Skene Ogden
Father De Smet
Finnian McDonald
William Kittington
Red River Emigrants
Ware and Vavasour.

On the back: Down the Kootenai, thence to the Pend d'Oreille and Spokane the railroad follows a route way taken by explorer, trader and missionary. A route which, from time immemorial, had been the highway of the Indian.

The expedition is sponsored by the Governors and historical societies of Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

TWO FOXES DEFEAT AN EAGLE
One Animal Nearly Overcome by Bird Before Second One Arrives.

GENEVA, March 25.—The inhabitants of the little village of Scania, in the canton of Grisons, witnessed two foxes pluckily fight and defeat a large eagle. One fox was crossing an open plateau alone when the eagle swept down from the rocky heights above, and the battle began. The fox, after 10 minutes of fighting, was visibly weakened by loss of blood from wounds caused by the bird's talons.
When another fox dashed into the battle and made the eagle's feathers fly.

The bird, surprised at the unexpected attack, flew to a rock to review the new situation. The second fox licked the wounds of his comrade, and the two animals slowly moved away from the spot,
keeping a wary eye on the bird.
The eagle, however, seemed to have had enough. When about 20 yards from a fir forest the foxes made a sudden dash. They disappeared among the trees where they were safe from the eagle's attack.

JUSTICE OF PEACE EXPELS LITIGANTS

Finds for Servant 'Suing for $35 Wages, When Disputants Begin Shouting.

The servant problem became so acute in Justice of the Peace Clark's Court yesterday that he was forced to order Mrs. Clara Schubert, the servant, and Mrs. Martin Schweig, her former employer, from his courtroom.

"I was a good maid and underpaid," began Mrs. Schubert, who now works at 6681 Kingsbury avenue, and who sought and gained judgment for $35, alleging Mrs. Schweig failed to pay her for three weeks' work. "But oh, the work there was! There were two large rooms on the first floor, a sun parlor, a kitchen and long hall, and then five bedrooms on the second floor, a bathroom, and another hall. I worked my fingers to the bone."

Quit Job on Dec. 24. "Then she came and said, 'You are no good. I can get a better maid at half the price.' And after me making care of her two children, too. I told her to go ahead and get a better maid and quit on Dec. 24."

"She never even glanced at my children," countered Mrs. Schweig, the wife of a photographer residing at 6181 Westminster place. "I never told her she was no good. She said she could not wipe a window because the work was too heavy and I said, 'My goodness, you must have done heavier work on the farm.'"

"We did everything to make her comfortable. We gave her any day off she wanted and helped her with her work. We even gave her expensive presents so she would like us. All we asked was that she would give us 19 days notice before she quit. Then the day before Christmas, after we had given her lots of gifts, she left us, saying she would return in two weeks. A long time later we received a letter saying she had quit and wanted the rest of her money."

Ordered from Courtroom. Mrs. Schubert, recalled, denied she had written such a letter. "Listen to that!" Mrs. Schweig exclaimed.

"Be quiet, lady," Justice Clark warned.

Mrs. Schweig's mother shouted to the witness, "You ought to confess!"

Attorneys were on their feet wildly objecting. Justice Clark, pounding the bench with his gavel, shouted, "Case decided for the plaintiff; you litigants get out before the constable puts you out."

PROFESSOR ASSENTS NOAH HAD LIQUOR ON ARK

Speakers Tell of Discovery by Johns Hopkins Men Who Discovered Flood Tablet.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.—Beer and wine made up part of Noah's cargo on the ark.

This was learned, speakers before the American Oriental Society said yesterday, through the translation of a tablet found in Nineveh by George Smith of the British Museum and restored by Paul Haupt, professor of Assyriology at Johns Hopkins University.

Prof. Haupt told members of the Oriental Society that the flood tablet was found in 1873. It had been deciphered previously by other Assyriologists, but the speaker said the recent translation was more comprehensive.

Prof. Haupt's translation relates how Noah cut down trees in the jungle and laid the frame of his ark, which consisted of six decks, divided into seven compartments. After his cargo was taken aboard, Prof. Haupt said, two-thirds of the ark was under water.

"For our food," read Prof. Haupt's translation of the tablet, "I slaughtered oxen and killed sheep—day by day. With beer and brandy, oil and wine I filled large jars, as with the water of a river."

PETITIONS FOR BICYCLE PATHS

Salisbury Asked to Restore Accommodations in Forest Park.

Petitions are being circulated in St. Louis asking that Director of Public Welfare Salisbury revive the bicycle paths which once existed in St. Louis. The petitions ask that the Director set aside a place in Forest Park for a cycle path or track exclusively for bicycles, and as an incentive, if possible, as the bicycle paths.

7500 Doctors in London.

LONDON, April 8.—The number of medical practitioners practicing in London in 1925 and of this total 12 per cent are women, according to the Public Health Department of the London County Council. This number of women is not due to economical reasons for both men and women receive the same remuneration. The only difference is that if the women marry they have to resign their appointments.

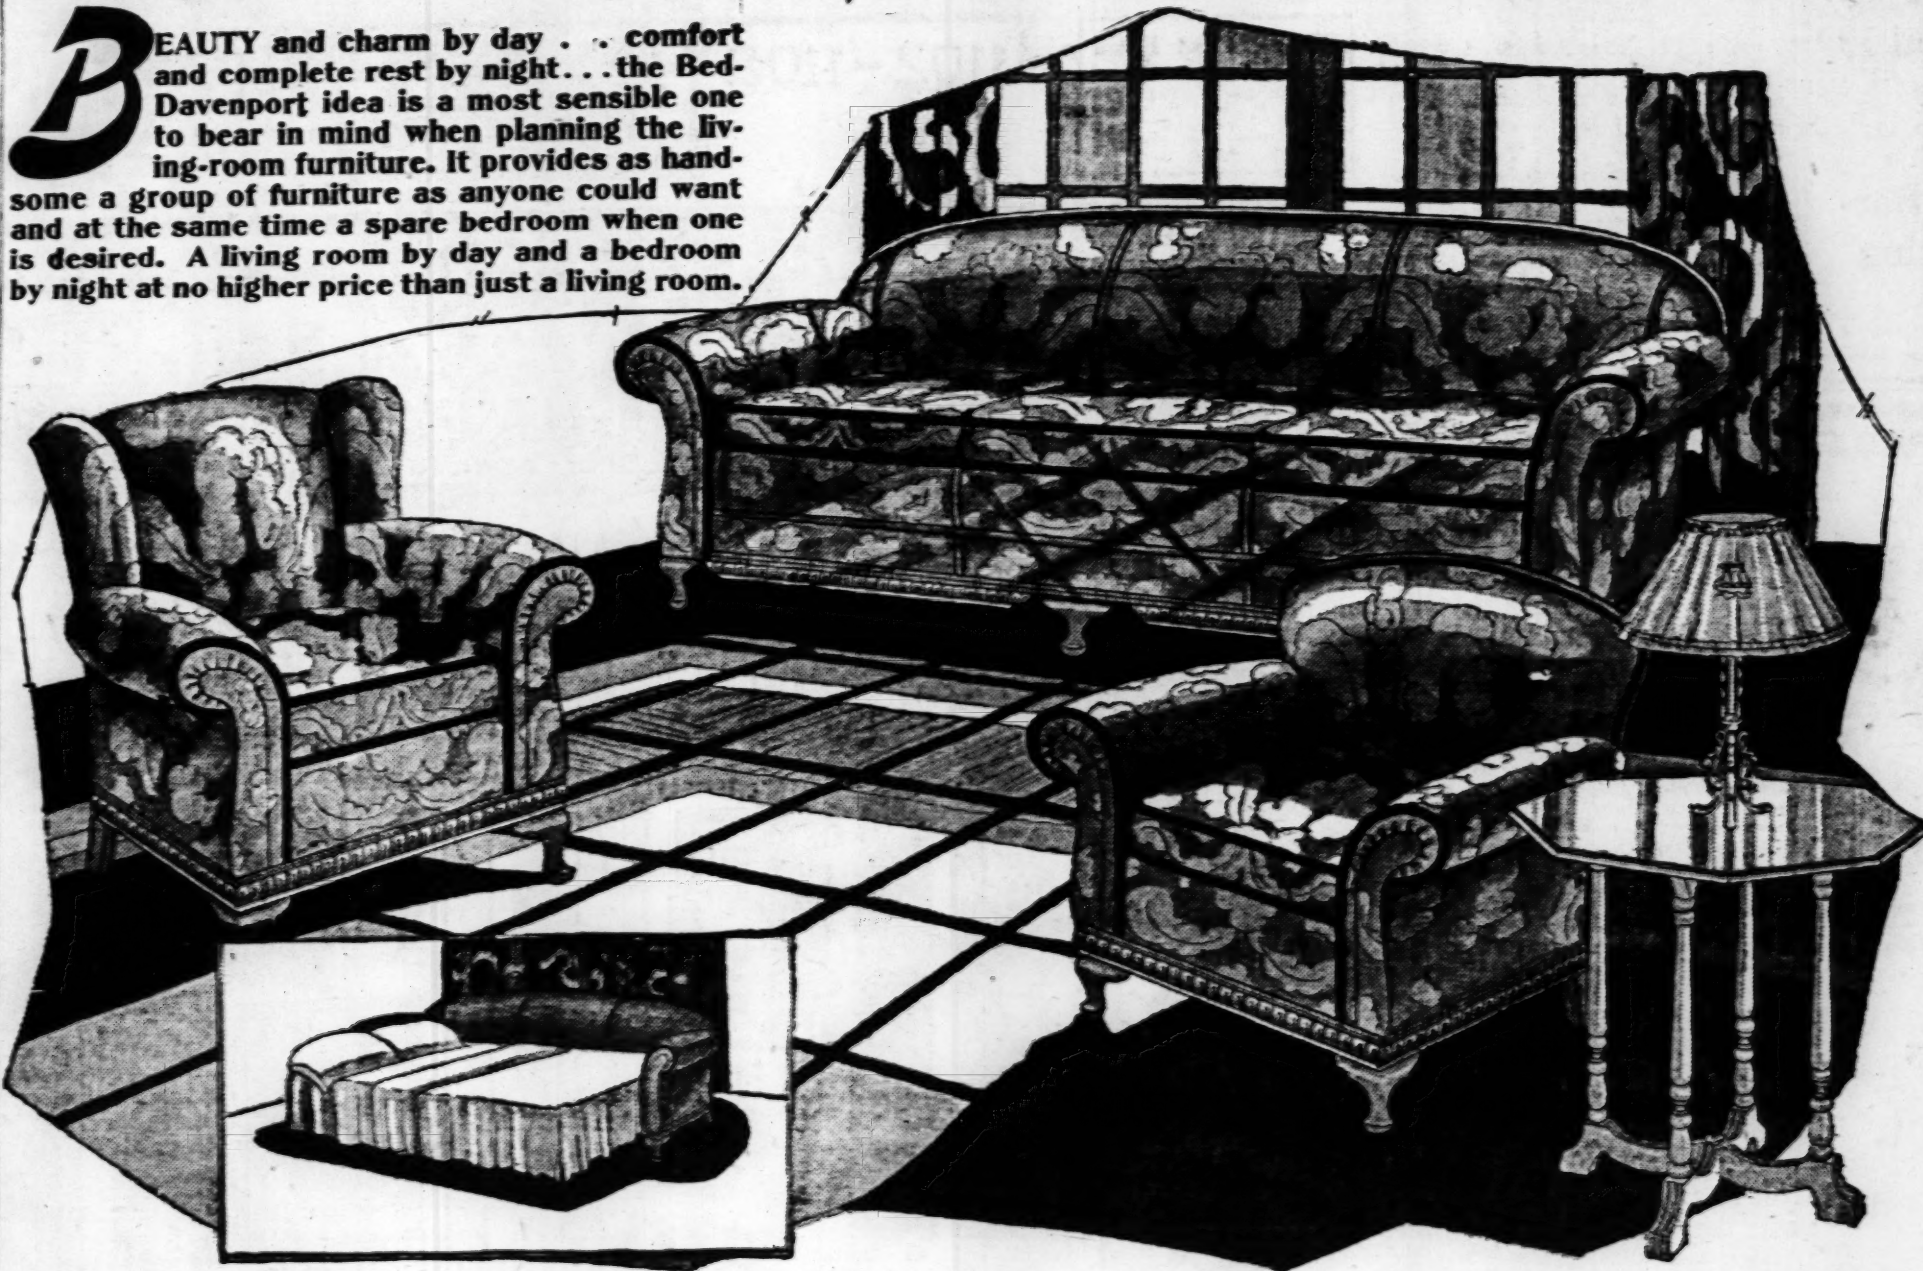

Bishop Defends Girls' Dress.

By the Associated Press.

ABERDEEN, Scotland, April 8.—The Bishop of Aberdeen and Orkney has come out in defense of modern girls, asserting that they now dress more sensibly than any girls have done for 1000 years or so. "The girls do their hair in a becoming way; they also show more fastidiousness than in olden days."

INVESTORS FIND BANK SOLD THEM WORTHLESS PAPER

Irregularities in Farmers' Exchange Bank of Gallatin Prove Amazing to the Receiver.

MAY PAY BACK ONLY
10 CENTS ON DOLLAR

Cashier Seeks to Establish Himself Elsewhere—President Doubts Criminal Acts.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GALLATIN, Mo., April 10.—Depositors and customers of the Farmers' Exchange Bank of Gallatin—closed by its directors a month ago because of "frozen assets"—are beginning to find out that instead of ultimately getting all of their $21,752 back as they first believed, they may get as low as 10 cents on the dollar or even less.

The bank's customers—many of them retired business men and widows who trusted their investments to the bank—are discovering that instead of good first mortgage notes, the bank sold them second mortgages in many cases and in other cases merely unsecured and worthless paper.

Amazed at irregularities. Settlement of the bank's affairs by J. N. Martin of Princeton, who resigned as a bank examiner to become receiver, has not progressed to the point where he can make an adequate estimate as to where the affairs will end, but he frankly admits he is amazed at irregularities coming to light, all tending to erase whatever chances depositors or customers had of realizing much. "Indorsed and sold notes uncovered to date total more than $300,000 and constitute a liability against the bank that never appeared in published statements. Even the correspondent banks in Kansas City are finding their loans to the Farmers' Exchange Bank are not secured by collateral of the quality they thought. Notes owned by the bank here and put up in Kansas City were accompanied by the usual statements showing the assets and liabilities of the note makers.

Many Suits Expected. But investigators who are calling in makers of the notes are being told, in many cases, that their assets are not as great as they were represented, and their liabilities are more although the statements purported to be signed by farmers and business men and attested by the bank officials.

Attorneys for the receiver expected an avalanche of suits to file and suits to defend. Martin, the receiver, has four attorneys, but only the one fee will be paid to be divided among them. The attorneys are Arthur M. Hyde, former Governor, Lewis B. Gillman, Prosecuting Attorney of Davies County; Joshua W. Alexander and Roy Dudley.

Homer Peart, president of the bank, said yesterday he did not believe any criminal acts would be found in the bank's transactions and that any irregularities could be explained.

Cashier Absent From Town. Dr. R. B. Thompson, cashier, is not in the city. Rumors have persisted that he has gone to Canada or to Mexico. Mrs. Thompson questioned today, said she had never been asked before as to her husband's whereabouts and that she had not thought it worth while to stop the gossip that she knew was afloat. She showed letters from her husband written in Texas and Oklahoma, in which he told of his search for a location for the practice of medicine.

Mrs. Thompson said she would immediately put the bank receiver in touch with her husband to ask questions that might clear up some of the seeming irregularities. Relations With Colorado Bank. Gillman, speaking as the prosecutor, said nothing had been put before him looking toward any criminal prosecutions but added as attorneys for the receiver, that he knew there were some unexplained circumstances.

One thing that is being studied by the receiver and which brought a bank examiner here from Colorado is a transaction between this bank and the People's Home Bank of Rocky Ford, Colo. Dr. Thompson's son, J. V. Thompson, was cashier of the Colorado bank, which closed two weeks ago.
